PREFACE.

The most critical period in the student's shorthand experience, and when he needs the most careful guidance and attention, in order that his progress shall be substantial and reasonably rapid, is just after he has completed the principles of the system and is ready to apply his knowledge of these principles in the way of taking general dictation. It is with the object of placing in the hands of shorthand pupils such assistance as will be of the greatest benefit to them at this stage of their shorthand experience that this manual of dictation has been prepared. While the writer is well aware of the fact that there are at this time numerous publications on the market, presenting courses of dictation, some of which possess special merit (and only books carefully and thoroughly illustrated are of any real value in the hands of the student beginning dictation work), yet it is believed that this manual has advantages over all others, especially as to the method of presenting the illustrated outlines, which is entirely new, and that the course of dictation outlined will be very advantageous to any student who follows it.

In exact accordance with what the name of the manual implies, it is to be studied. The illustrations should be carefully practiced, and every line of matter should be written a sufficient number of times to make very clear each outline contained therein. As the ultimate object sought after in a course of this kind is to get the pupil to write as nearly correct as possible, keeping constantly before him good illustrations will help greatly to accomplish this result.

All the matter presented is believed to be as practical as it is possible to get, a large per cent of it coming from some of the best and strictly up-to-date offices in the city of Chicago.

That this book may make the work of many dictation students pleasant and interesting, that it may make this part of their course mean more to them, and that it may lessen the labor of the teachers, who have this important work in charge, is the earnest wish of the author.

W. I. T.

Chicago, February, 1903.

INTRODUCTION.

How, and what to phrase while writing shorthand is a question of great importance, and one that should have special attention at the outset before the student starts on a course of dictation covering several hundreds of letters. To meet these requirements, the writer has prepared the lists shown on the first pages of this manual. There are many expressions, the individual words of which are never written separately, and again, it is very easy for the student of limited experience to join words (very often large words) that should not be joined, and which no practical stenographer would join. Therefore, it will be necessary for him to carefully study the phrases suggested, and to be guided by them in carrying the principle into general use.

The small list of special phrases will be found very useful, and should be carefully practiced, so as to be instantly written whenever heard.

The writer believes that all familiar proper names should be written in shorthand; that the student should be trained to write these outlines in shorthand when they occur in the dictation, just as easily as any other word. By careful and accurate vocalizing, a large per cent of all proper names may be written in shorthand. The same is true of the names of the states, cities, countries, etc. The student should not resort to longhand writing in order to make his page legible, except in cases of absolute necessity, and this generally applies to the spelling of certain proper names.

The method employed in this manual for presenting the illustrations differs materially from that used by any other author. It is believed to be the best; it is likewise the most expensive on account of the great number of cuts necessary for proper illustration. However, expense has not been considered in the preparation of this manual. Experience has convinced the writer that the idea of having the required suggestions ever before the pupil is correct, and the entire volume has been prepared with this object in view regardless of cost or labor.

All words having difficult or technical outlines occurring in the letters printed on each two pages throughout the book, are given at the top of the left-hand page with the shorthand outline opposite each word. By employing this method, the pupil does not have to turn back to find an outline which he desires. It is there immediately before him. The number of the letter in which the word occurs also appears to the left of the printed word, thus enabling the pupil to locate the outline he is looking for, at a glance. No outline is repeated under the same set of letters. However, a few repetitions do occur in different sets of letters on words which, experience has taught the writer, the student is liable to write incorrectly, even though the correct outline has been suggested at some previous time.

No outlines of short, easy words or simple phrases are given in the regular list of illustrations. It is believed that the student who has mastered the system fairly well, as outlined in his text-book, will know these, and to continually repeat them in connection with the more difficult or technical outlines only tends to cause the student to lose interest in following the outlines suggested, for the reason that he only now and then finds a word which he does not thoroughly understand, and, finally, instead of carefully practicing and profiting by the illustrations given, puts down what he thinks to be correct, and passes on. Again, the student should understand he is expected to handle that part of the work correctly, without receiving assistance from any source other than his text-book, which he should faithfully continue to review until errors no longer appear in his notes and no hesitancy is experienced in the quick application of the principles.

The suggestion following the first set of letters, that the student divide all the words appearing in the list of illustrations, into syllables, etc., is one which will require special care, some little patience, and, possibly an occasional glance into a dictionary. Nevertheless, it will prove a splendid exercise, and will prepare the way for saving time and avoiding errors when dividing words at the end of the typewritten line.

The miscellaneous exercises on letter-writing, punctuation, transcription and figuring appearing at the close of the different sets of letters, will give the student an excellent opportunity to test his ability along these various lines, remembering that none of this work is in any sense foreign to the duties of the stenographer; but, on the contrary, that every stenographer who is of real value to a concern may be called upon at any time to compose and write original letters, or do figuring accurately, as well as to write correctly the letters that have been dictated. Therefore, the student should endeavor to furnish the best possible result for each and every exercise given.

The work is carefully graded. The shortest and easiest letters are given first, and the more lengthy or difficult ones follow as the student advances. Throughout the first few sets of letters the illustrations contain all general words considered sufficiently difficult to be worthy of special attention, while later only such words as have particular reference to the subject, or characteristic of that particular business, are given.

Sufficient space and attention has been devoted to legal forms and general legal matter to familiarize the student with the language used in this line of work. In selecting these, special care has been exercised to give only such articles as are most frequently dictated to law stenographers.

The words in all of the letters have been counted and the number placed at the close of each. This will be of considerable value in giving speed tests.

For various reasons the date line, name and address of all letters have been omitted. These may be supplied by the teacher when giving dictation, if desired.

The dictionary of illustrated words will be useful for looking up the outline of any word that has been given in the list of illustrations, not only while the student is taking the work of this manual, but at any future time as well.

All the shorthand illustrations used in this volume are photographic reproductions of notes written by Mr. Garnett R. Hall, of Quincy, Ill. Mr. Hall is recognized by the writers of the system as authority on what good notes should be, and this of itself is sufficient evidence of the correctness of the copy.

Acknowledgement and thanks are hereby extended to the many firms who have contributed letters from their every day business correspondence and thereby made the production of a practical dictation book possible; to Mr. Lorenzo E. Dow, member of the Chicago Bar, for the legal work; to Miss Carrie May Emans, instructor in the advanced shorthand department of the Chicago Business College, for her valuable assistance in proof-reading and general criticisms on the entire volume; and, to all who have assisted in various ways in the preparation of the work.

PHRASING.

Throughout the principle of phrasing, there are certain words, or combinations, which are leaders, as it were, and to these may be joined various other words making a most facile outline. For instance, "you" as in, you will, you should be, you can, you could not, you are wrong, etc., or "I will" as in, I will be, I will have, I will have it, I will not, I will not be able to, etc., wherein the third, fourth or all subsequent words may be changed as often as occasion may demand. The following list is suggestive of a great variety of most practical phrases which may be written from these leaders, and in fact is the basis of nearly all practical phrasing.

THE SHORTHAND STUDENT should always write just as good notes as he can, as the habit thus acquired will prove of great value when writing under stress of great speed.

He should never make poor or scrawly notes just because he is familiar with the matter dictated, or because the dictation is slow, as this sort of thing will cause him to certainly fail under a severe strain of note-taking.

He should make it a point to review some portion of his shorthand system every day he is in school, and should not be satisfied unless he knows perfectly every word-sign and contraction contained in the lessons that have been assigned throughout the course.

He should always read everything he writes, and, if possible, write it out on the machine.

He should always read over his transcripts, and be certain they are correct; or, at any rate, that they read properly and convey the idea intended by the dictator.

Whenever manuscript of any kind (whether it appears to be of much value or not) is left in his possession to be copied, he should be very careful to see that no part of it is either lost or destroyed, and should always return the original copy together with his own work.

He should remember, whether in school or in the office, that the work he does is always looked upon as his best effort, and that his promotion will be governed according to the evidence.

We have your letter of the 30th ult., which was referred to our Superintendent, but he neglected to answer it until this morning. Please pardon the delay.

We find that the car was loaded under the supervision of two different foremen, both of whom are positive that 75 barrels of Medium Grain and 25 barrels of Granulated Salt were put in, but the fact that two makes of Medium Grain were loaded may have caused your men to think the grades were transposed.

If you will now kindly go to the trouble to give us the name of the manufacturer on the end of each barrel, we will appreciate it very much, as it will enable us to straighten the matter out entirely and adjust it to your satisfaction.

We will get after those who have not ordered, as per your suggestion, and urge upon them the necessity of accepting or rejecting our prices promptly, that we may arrange to have the Salt out here.

The strike situation is becoming serious and may curtail the receipts of Salt.

We have yours of the 24th, and note what you say about the difference in price and hardly understand your complaint, as we charged you the correct price at the time of shipment, and our price today is $1.02 per barrel for Medium Grain Salt, as per card sent you last week.

Have you a card quoting a lower basis? If so, kindly send it to us that we may investigate.

We appreciate the business you have tendered us for many years and want to do all we can to have our relations pleasant. We do not make the market here, but receive instructions when a change takes place and post our customers promptly.

Yours truly,

Gentlemen:

Referring to invoice No. 76561, covering 9 barrels of 28/10s Dairy Salt, which you recently kindly consented to accept, we are just advised by the party to whom the goods were shipped that they are unable now to return the goods on account of the fact that the Salt is stored where it would be almost impossible to get at it and that they will accept the shipment themselves. We are very sorry, indeed, that the matter has turned out just as it has, and again thank you for your trouble in the matter.

Navigation has practically closed, but we have not as yet had notice of any advance in prices and think you would make no mistake in placing your order for an assorted car, provided your storage capacity will allow you, and hope to be favored with your order.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

We wrote you on February 18th and again on the 27th, asking for the paid freight bill for car of Salt shipped on our invoice No. 78558, but up to the present have had no reply. We explained that there was quite an overcharge in the amount collected by the railroad company, which we will be unable to recover without the original receipt. Our letters must have been delivered, as they bore our return card and have not been returned to us.

Please do not compel us to repeat our request.

Yours truly,

Gentlemen:

We herewith return Chicago Exchange for $36.93, tendered in payment of invoice No. 1593. We cannot allow your deduction for cash discount, as prices on Salt are net, as you will find by referring to printed terms on the invoice.

We have retained the freight bill and credited your account with the amount paid.

You may, if you prefer, withhold your remittance until the expiration of the 30 days usually allowed; otherwise, kindly correct and return at your convenience, and oblige,

We are in receipt of your favor of the 17th inst., ordering 14 No. 1 galvanized lever handles. We are entirely out of the No. 1 galvanized, but expect to have some finished in about five or six days and will give your order prompt attention.

Regarding your inquiry for door locks to be operated from either side of cold storage door, would state we do not know exactly what you mean. We can furnish you with a lever latch and handle operated from both sides of door, but if you mean a regular mortise or rim door lock, to be operated from either side of door, we have nothing of the kind.

Gentlemen:

After a thorough trial of the $87 off-set latches, we have found them absolutely worthless. We now have them on eight or ten different style refrigerators and have got to take them all off and replace with other style latches.

In many cases they are broken, none of them work, and they have all cost us three times the price of the latches. We are entirely out of the right-hand latches, but have two or three dozen of the left-hand latches left, and would request the privilege of returning them, as we shall make no further attempt to use them.

Dear Sir:

We have your favor of the 10th inst. and note contents. We found that there was too much of the piece stuff, drop siding, and shingles for one car, and thought there would be sufficient for two small cars; therefore, loaded the first car, which you say you received. The second one was started yesterday, and after we got all of the balance of the piece stuff, shingles, etc., into same, we found that it was not within 6,000 lbs. of being up to full weight, and took the liberty of putting in enough cull boards to make up the deficiency, and to help you out until we can get the full car of cull boards off. We know that they are very nice boards and that you will be pleased with them.

We also put in this car the parting strips, and cove, and some empty bags. The glazed sash were not quite ready, but will be shipped by local freight tomorrow. There would be nothing saved by putting them into the car, as all the railroad companies now insist on charging the full local rate of freight on glazed sash, if put into a car with lumber.

Very respectfully yours,

If you think it would be well to write them concerning the same, let me know by return mail.

All other orders will receive prompt attention as far as possible.

Dear Sir:

We beg to hand you herewith our claim 11695 which was originally entered against the P. C. C. & St. L. Ry. Co.

You will note this material originated on your line at Marinette, and the P. C. C. & St. L. advise us that they accepted your weights and that they will not make any reduction unless authorized by you.

Kindly give this matter your prompt attention, investigate the weight question promptly and return all papers to Mr. Randall, or to this office, with your authority for the proportion of the C. M. & St. P.

You will note this car contained 58,000 No. 2 White Pine Lath. This material should not weigh to exceed 29,000 lbs. as the material was out during the months of August and September, the year previous, or 1901. However, we have corrected our claim to a basis of 30,000 lbs. minimum, which will allow to exceed 1,000 lbs. to cover weather condition and any possible track scale variance.

Please give this claim your prompt attention, acknowledge receipt, favor us with your company's reference number, and in the meantime hurry same through for early settlement, and much oblige,

Dear Sir:

We herewith enclose you our estimate on the list of lumber submitted, with prices per thousand feet attached.

The price quoted you on the hemlock plank is for the quantity we now have on hand and not for the full amount of your probable requirements. However, we have anywhere from 85 to 95 thousand feet in our yard, and by the time you had used that quantity up, we would be in a position to furnish you the balance of the order from our stock up North.

You, of course, will understand that the prices quoted you are for immediate delivery, by team, to the buildings. If you can allow us sufficient time in which to make the delivery by car, we might be able to quote you closer figures.

Yours truly,

Gentlemen:

We are in receipt of yours of the 18th, and in reply would say that we had not noticed the notation on the order referred to, as at the time we instructed Mr. Miller to purchase this stock, we told him that any stock shipped must be for immediate delivery.

However, in this case we will accept this shipment as soon as you can send it along, but will expect you to rush the order, and in the event of Mr. Miller ordering any more of the same class of material, be sure that you have the stock on hand before accepting the order.

Referring to I. C. car No. 92949, which we loaded with lumber yesterday, and which we instructed you to deliver according to billing given by John Spry & Co., of this city, we herewith cancel said instructions and request you to hold this car for final disposition until such time as we send you further orders.

Dear Sir:

We note your favor of July 12th, with reference to your claim 15453, covering our claim 12591.

We note that you state the correct weight of this shipment was 34,700 lbs., while it is true you have charged us on the face of your expense bill 40,700 lbs., and it occurs to us that in finding an error of 6,000 lbs. you should be able, or at least would be likely, to find an error of 15,000 lbs., which was the exact difference. There is no question but what there was a mistake of some kind to the amount of 15,000 lbs., and we do not consider that you are justified in asking us to amend our claim to the basis of 34,700 lbs.

However, inasmuch as your company does not seem to appreciate business from this company, and in order to help you close these matters up, we hereby amend our claim exactly as you suggest, making net amount of our claim $8.34, and thereby practically giving your company $10.00.

As this correction is made exactly in accordance with your letter, we trust there will be no further delay in issuing voucher in our favor for the amount of the corrected claim.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of March 14th, would say that we do not know at the present time whether we will bring in any of the Bigelow & O'Brien stock by rail or not; it all depends on the opening of navigation. If we see that we can get all of this stock off the docks by the first day of May, by water rates, we prefer that way of shipping the stuff. If, however, we find that we cannot do so, then we will be forced to ship by rail, as it is important to have this lot all out of Ashland by that date. We do not care to buy any more of O'Brien shorts, until we have seen the stock, and as we hope to be in Ashland by the last of next week, we will then have an opportunity of inspecting the material.

Dear Sir:

We note your esteemed favor of June 23d with reference to the contents loaded in car 3999, which was consigned to Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co., at South Bend, Ind.

As per your request, we tabulate hereinunder the exact contents of this car.

180 pcs. 14400 ft. 6x8x20 No. 1 Hemlock.
30 pcs. 1200 ft. 2x12x20 No. 1 Norway Pine.

The hemlock was manufactured last spring and was about eight months old, and, of course, was in very good shipping condition and would not weigh to exceed 3,000 lbs. per M. In fact, if it had been handled during the dry season, it would not weigh to exceed 2,800 lbs. per M. ft.

The Norway we find was cut in May, last year, and was in pile here in our yard from the latter part of July until it was loaded in this car 3999, and as this was only 2" stock, it certainly was in good condition and really should not weigh to exceed 2,700 lbs. per M. ft.

We believe if this matter is referred to the consignees, they will be able to confirm the condition of this material and probably will know something about the weight.

Trusting this is the information you desire, we are,

Dear Sir:

We beg to hand you herewith our claims—14736, $4.11; 14737, $4.32; 14738, $8.65; all account weight covering shipments which moved May 4, 14th and 26th, respectively.

Referring to our claim 14737, we believe it would be practically impossible for this material to weigh to exceed 28,000 lbs. as we find this material was in very good condition, and we know when this material is good and dry, it will weigh as low as 460 lbs. per thousand; however, we know shipping dry material will weigh 500 lbs. per thousand. You will note, however, we have raised our figures 2,500 lbs. making a minimum of 30,000 lbs. This should also cover any possible track scale variance.

With reference to our claim 14738, this is a shipment which was loaded here in our yard and the stock in question was cut last season and there is no question but what this material was in good condition and should not weigh to exceed 32,000 lbs., while you will note we have entered our claim on a basis of 33,500 lbs. This should cover any possible track scale variance and certainly should receive your prompt attention.

With reference to our claim 14736, this shipment contained 65 thousand No. 2 white pine lath which was about seven months old. and although not thoroughly "bone" dry, was in good shipping condition and should not weigh to exceed 500 lbs. per thousand, making net weight 32,500 lbs. You will note, however, we have based our claim on the weight of 35,000 lbs. in order to save the usual mail controversy and to cover weather conditions and any possible track scale variance. With this allowance the claim should be passed through for early voucher.

Trusting these claims will receive your early attention and that you may acknowledge receipt, favoring us with your company's reference number, we are,

Dear Sir:

We have your favor of recent date, and in reply beg to advise you that the guarantee on your tires has expired. During 1902 and previous years we gave a guarantee for the entire year to December 31st. We have now, however, adopted the regular Associated Manufacturers' guarantee, which is two months on the bicycle and one month on tires from date of purchase. This gives abundant time for any real defects to show themselves. Under the circumstances, we hardly think you will expect us to replace them free of charge, particularly when you remember the very close margins on which our wheels are sold. Wishing, however, to deal as liberally with you as possible, we will make you a special price (less than half) on Record "A" single tube, or Morgan & Wright double tube tires of $3.00 per pair, and as this is much less than net cost to us, we trust you will appreciate the concession. In ordering, return this letter for our reference, and please note that we do not ship small parts and repairs C. O. D., but require cash with order so as to avoid unnecessary work and book-keeping.

Thanking you for past favors, and trusting we shall be favored with your future business, we are,

Respectfully yours,

Dear Sir:

We have your favor of the 3d, asking us to ship you a bicycle on approval, and trial. You evidently are ordering direct from one of our newspaper advertisements without having seen our catalogue, and we thought best before shipping a wheel to send you circulars fully describing our different models and explaining our very liberal terms of shipment. These we are sending you in separate package by mail, which you should receive promptly.

You will note we offer to ship any bicycle C. O. D. on approval, without a cent deposit, and allow ten days' trial, during which time if the wheel proves unsatisfactory it can be returned to us and the money refunded. The money must be paid to the express agent, however, before wheel is delivered, as we are unable to know the thousands of persons we are dealing with, and would be imposed upon in many cases if the wheels were delivered without payment.

You take no risk in ordering the wheel shipped C. O. D. on approval, and we are confident you will be surprised and pleased at the quality and appearance of the bicycle we send you.

Kindly fill out the enclosed order blank and return to us, and we will ship the wheel promptly and exactly according to specifications.

Yours truly,

3.

Dear Sir:

We have your order of recent date for one Amazon bicycle. Before shipping we would advise our business is done on a strictly cash basis, as we do not open accounts, loan samples, or sell on installments, under any circumstances. We would like very much to fill your order, and, if satisfactory to you, will make shipment of your order C. O. D. You can examine the shipment fully before paying for it, and if after paying the amount of the C. O. D. and charges to the agent, the bicycle proves unsatisfactory in any way, within ten days, you can return the shipment, and we will promptly refund the amount paid. You will find it an easy matter to make a great many profitable sales if you have a sample to show, and we hope to have your permission by return mail to ship C. O. D.

We shall await your further instructions, and when replying be sure to return this letter so as to avoid any mistakes or delays.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your favor of recent date would say that we can find no record of your having purchased a bicycle from us in your own name, but suppose you have done so through one of our agents. As we have used at different times fittings of various patterns, it will be necessary for us to know the order number (as found on the guarantee) or the name and address of the original purchaser, so that we can locate this bicycle on our records. If your guarantee is still in force, we will be pleased to make good anything coming within the terms of the guarantee, on the conditions named therein. During 1902 and previous years we gave a guarantee for the entire year to December 31st. We have now, however, adopted the regular Associated Manufacturers' guarantee, which is two months on the bicycle and one month on the tires, from date of purchase. This gives abundant time for any real defects to show themselves. In case your guarantee has expired, the enclosed list of parts will aid you in ordering anything you may require.

Trusting we may have the pleasure of serving you, we are,

Yours truly,

Gentlemen:

Your favor of recent date at hand, and in reply will say you may send us (express charges prepaid) any parts which prove defective within the life of the guarantee and we will be glad to repair or replace them free of charge. Please read carefully the conditions and suggestions on your guarantee, and if your case comes under them fill out the enclosed shipping tag with your name and address, and order number of your bicycle (as found on your guarantee), and attach before shipping. Be sure and write us when sending parts, telling us again just what is wanted and enclosing the letter in the package if possible, as it will save delay in looking up your previous correspondence.

We enclose a price-list of parts and repairs, and will give you a special discount of 35 per cent from the prices in this list, on anything you may need in the future. It is frequently quicker and cheaper to order new parts direct than to pay express charges on old ones for repair.

Thanking you for past favors, and trusting that we shall be favored with your future business, we are,

Respectfully yours,

Gentlemen:

Replying to your letter of the 6th, would say, that we regret we cannot, at this time, find any record of having received from you the order or remittance referred to, and would suggest that you let us have your new order on the enclosed blank. If your remittance was a draft, express order, or postoffice money order, you will have no trouble in securing a duplicate, which we trust you will send us promptly, and when replying return this letter, or refer to its date, so as to avoid any mistakes or further delays. We trust that you have suffered no loss and that you will be able to recover your first order and remittance.

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your favor of recent date enclosing remittance of $5.00, which we have placed to your credit under our No. 20056. Before shipping we must explain that we are unable to fill your order as sent in, as you have deducted 25 per cent, instead of 25 cents, for sending cash in full, and we hope to have your remittance of $1.25 by return mail to complete the order. If you prefer, we will be pleased to make shipment C. O. D. for the balance due.

We shall hope to hear from you favorably at an early date, and when replying return this letter, or refer to the above number, so as to avoid mistakes or delays.

Dear Sir:

Replying to yours of recent date would say that we are always ready and willing to buy second-hand bicycles to supply our country trade orders. We cannot at this time, however, send anyone to examine what you have, but if you will send the bicycle to us, charges prepaid, we will allow you for it all it is possibly worth to us. Should you decide to send the bicycle down by wagon, be sure to mark it with your name and address so that it may be identified when received, and call on us as soon after as possible.

Dear Sir:

We are advised by the First National Bank of Chicgao that you have not as yet honored our draft, with bill of lading, for the bicycle shipped under our No. 12560, as specified by you. We are somewhat surprised, in fact we believe that there must be some mistake to cause this delay. We will ask that you kindly advise us what your wishes may be in regard to the same. We are sure that you will find the bicycle a bargain and that it will give the best of service. We shall hope to hear from you promptly and when replying return this letter or refer to the above number.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your recent favor would say that the express charges on the circulars are to be paid by the party ordering them, but we, of course, do not wish any feeling or delay in this matter and would suggest that you accept the circulars, pay the charges and we will refund the amount, together with original deposit, on receipt of the first order.

We believe that this should be agreeable to you and trust that you will accept the circulars and distribute them judiciously, so that they will bring good results with early orders.

We have every reason to believe that many bicycles will be sold this season, and we trust that you will be in position to secure your share of the trade, and in this way secure your premium bicycle at an early date.

Gentlemen:

We have your order of recent date for one Sentinel Special bicycle. Before shipping we would advise we do not carry in stock the color you specify. Enameling to order would take about two weeks, for which we must make an additional charge of $2.00 for the extra labor. We would suggest that you permit us to change your order to black, green or maroon.

We shall await your further instructions, and when replying be sure to return this letter or refer to the above date, so as to avoid further delays or errors.

Do you intend coming to Chicago to place an import order in the near future? I would like to call your attention to the fact that I have Mr. M. E. Schoening's line of import goods, also the Snedeker Mfg. Co.'s line, and should you come would be glad to show you both. In case you do not come I will call on you in the course of two or three weeks.

Dear Sir:

We wish you would send us, by mail or express, a few of the better quality guard plates of each style. We have a lot of mandolins made up and cannot complete same on account of having to wait for these goods.

Kindly send us a few at once, so we can go on with our orders.

We are in receipt of your favor of the 4th inst. with enclosure for $103.50, which amount we have placed to your credit on account, with thanks.

We return herewith our statement of March 1st, enclosing duplicate bill of Feb. 21st as requested. The deduction of 5 per cent discount on bills Feb. 26th and 28th is wrong and unjust, and you know it. We must insist upon payment of these various deductions made by you for discount, and hope to have your check by return mail.

Dear Sirs:

Yours of the 5th inst. is at hand, and am sorry that we cannot furnish you cuts that you ask for at present, but will be able to do so within two weeks from date, at which time we will send cuts of all our instruments.

Our salesman will call on you in about three weeks with a new line of samples, and would advise you to hold your catalogue until that time if possible. He has got a very fine line of samples, and I think it will pay you to see them.

Thanking you for past favors and hoping you will favor him with a large order, we remain,

Are you handling guitars and mandolins as premiums? If so, would like to quote you prices on these goods, for we are certain that we can save you money.

We are the largest manufacturers of these goods in the United States. We produce more guitars than the combined product of any other three factories; consequently, are in a position to quote proper prices and deliver goods promptly.

If you are interested, please notify us and we will have our representative call on you and quote you prices, and give you any other information that you may desire.

Gentlemen:

In reply to your letter asking us to give you a description of our violin outfit, we say thus:

It is with pride that we offer this violin outfit, for we are certain that no such value has ever before been offered. The violin is a copy of Joseph Guarnarius, being a perfect reproduction of the instrument made by this celebrated master in 1736. It is of a deep reddish-brown color, handsomely shaded and exquisitely polished. The back and sides are made of selected flamed maple, and the top of the best quality spruce; both woods are very old. The finger board pegs and tailpiece are made of solid ebony. It possesses a very rich, loud, voluminous tone and is sure to satisfy the most exacting.

We furnish with above, a very handsome bow which is made of Brazil wood,—imitation snake wood. It has a finely carved bone frog with pearl eye, which is German silver lined. We include, also, with this outfit a very fine cake of genuine weichold resin, an instruction book, and a neatly lined wooden case,—black varnished.

As we buy these goods direct from the European manufacturers, we are very confident that this outfit cannot be duplicated at any retail store in the U. S. for less than double the amount we ask for it.

Dear Sir:

We have your letter of April 4th, inquiring about the No. 260 and No. 262 imitation rosewood and imitation mahogany guitars, with the decalcomania strip in the back. We will make you these at $1.35.

Will you please see what you can do with the Celluloid Co.'s buttons, as it is impossible for us to use the Arlington buttons. We could not use them at half the price, as they are so hard and we break a great many of them putting them on. We would much rather use the Celluloid Co.'s buttons and probably you can make arrangements to get them there cheaper than we can here.

I shall be at Milwaukee tomorrow with a line of guitars and mandolins from the Snedeker Mfg. Co., also, a line of violins, etc., from the European manufacturers, a list of which you will find on the back of my card, which I enclose.

You will notice that I sell only direct from the factories, and there will be a saving to you, by placing your orders with me, of from 25 per cent to 50 per cent. I should like very much to have you look over my line, as it will certainly be quite an object to you.

I shall be at the Plankinton House and should like to have you telephone me, at my expense, if you can come.

We notice on our books that you have not bought anything from us since last December. Is there any reason for this? We should like very much to know if there is anything wrong; if so, should be only too glad to rectify same, as we desire especially to keep the good will of all our old customers.

Gentlemen:

We have today shipped you, as per your order, a line of samples of our guitars and mandolins, which we hope will open up to your entire satisfaction.

You say that you want a guitar that you can guarantee and one that will stand the strain of steel strings. This, our guitar will do, but we will recommend you to have the metal tailpieces on them instead of the flat bridge, for there is a tremendous strain on the bridge, which is simply glued on and will, in time, pull off. You will find all our goods of a very high class, and we have no doubt that they will give satisfaction, as we have quoted you very low prices. Should you place your order with us, we would like from three weeks to a month's time to deliver the goods, as we do not carry a stock on hand.

Hoping that we may receive your orders, we remain,

Gentlemen:

Replying to yours of the 2d inst., will say that we see no reason why you did not receive the goods sent you about a week ago, as they were properly addressed. However, we have sent tracer after them and hope you will get them in due time. We trust the delay has put you to no inconvenience.

The No. 40203 guitars are well under way and as soon as they are finished we will be pleased to ship. We cannot ship you the No. 40205 guitars in the time you specify, as it will take all of three weeks to finish them. At your request, we will begin work on them at once so as to get them out as soon as possible.

Our catalogue is now in the hands of the printer and when completed, we will mail you a copy. The old edition is entirely exhausted, otherwise we would send you one of them.

Kindly advise us as to the No. 40205 guitars, and oblige.

We are in receipt of your favor of May 15 and note what you say. You are, no doubt, aware that pianos run from 3 ft. 9″x5 ft. 4″ to 4 ft. 11″x5 ft. 7″. Of course, pianos are made in different sizes, although most of them are 4 ft. 5″ high and 5 ft. 4″ wide. For this reason we make our moving covers to fit the largest size piano, because then, in case you should get an extra large piano to move the cover would be an advantage to you. Please let us know if we should make this cover 4 ft. 5″ high and 5 ft. 4″ wide. The price on this cover will be $6.80, less 5 per cent when cash accompanies order. The lettering will be 6½c per letter, net.

Dear Sir:

We have adopted a plan of placing before our customers an assortment of choice patterns in piano scarfs, whereby they are enabled to make a selection at their leisure and without expense. This offer is being accepted readily by the trade, and is one which we feel you will doubtless be inclined to receive with favor, as it means a saving of 20 per cent. We outline proposition below, and should be pleased to have your acceptance by return mail.

One dozen choice velours, assorted patterns and colors, regular price $19.65. We send these upon receipt of your acceptance, express prepaid, for $16.20. The only stipulation attached to this offer is, that you keep them all. When you consider that these goods are from our new stock and that many of them sell for $1.75, and we offer them in this way at an average of $1.35 each, we assume that you will want to take advantage of this discount. In some instances our trade leaves a standing order with us to send them from time to time whatever we may be offering in this manner. We prefer to have your permission, however, before troubling you to look at them.

Our line of stools, chairs and benches, with which you are doubtless familiar, continues to occupy the high position established in the trade by virtue of the excellent workmanship and finish of all our goods.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your favor of the 16th inst., and in compliance with the request contained therein are mailing you, under separate cover, one of our new catalogues illustrating our complete line of chairs, stools, benches, rubber covers and hoods. Scarfs we do not catalogue, as our line is very extensive and constantly changing. However, we are always willing to send scarfs out on selection to responsible parties, and this is really the only satisfactory way in which to purchase this class of goods, as you then get the advantage of everything that is new.

Referring to your order of the 14th inst., for one stool in birch to match a Kronic and Bach piano, same to be shipped to the Warner Co., we are a little in doubt as to the shade of finish wanted. You say this is to be considerably lighter than the lightest walnut. Rather than make the stool and have it unsatisfactory, we enclose herein a sample of birch, and would ask you to inform us whether this matches the piano in question. If not, may we ask you to kindly send us a sample to work by.

Dear Sir:

The line of damasks we have been showing the trade has not changed sufficiently within the last six months, and the result is that our sales in these goods is far below what it should be. The traveling men for several trips have been obliged to show the same line and it naturally gives their trade the impression that we are not progressive, whereas the opposite is truly the case. You will doubtless recall our conversation on this matter, and your coinciding with my views as to the advisability of closing out the present stock, even at cost. I have drawn up the enclosed letter to the trade and with your sanction will send out about twenty-five of these consignments immediately. I have not instructed the salesmen as yet of the change in prices, preferring to have your decision on this. I have put the blue price, the closing price, and the cost, on this letter for your approval. If we sell these fifteen scarfs for $34.65 net, we shall have about 10 per cent profit out of which to pay express charges. We shall have fresh goods to give the salesmen that they can sell at better profit than heretofore, and thus be a means of getting in a wedge with some houses to whom we are not selling at present. I append to this a list of houses to whom these consignments will doubtless appeal.

Yours respectfully,

Dear Sir:

Replying to yours of the 17th for prices on the M. & M. lamps, we are pleased to refer you to Mr. Wm. Parkinson, of Madison, Neb., who has the agency for these lights. We have no cheaper system lights than the Doran. As to the length of time that a system will last, we cannot say; it depends a great deal upon how it is handled. If nothing happens to it, it may last for 15 years or more. The only wearing parts to the system are the generators and the pump. We guarantee the lights for a year, and will replace any defective parts during that length of time. The new generators are 50 cents each, and new pumps $1.50.

3.

Dear Sir:

Referring to yours of the 14th, beg to advise that the price on the Harp Frame lamp is now the same as the price on the plain inside arc, namely $14.25 for a No. 1 outfit. The Stalactite Arc is the same price as the outside lamp, making a No. 1 outfit $16.75.

We are very sorry, however, that we will be unable to fill your order for the Stalactite Arc at the present time, owing to the fact that we are unable to get the glassware.

We note what you say about the nights being short, and would call your attention to the fact that this is just the time to get the merchants lined up for the fall trade. Start in and work hard all summer, and in the fall you will have the orders coming your way. If you wait until fall to start in, it will be spring before they are ready to order, and then the nights are getting short and they will want to wait until next fall. We should advise to begin work at once.

Dear Sir:

Your favor of May 16th, enclosing communication from the bank, and advising us that unless the goods are received by the 20th the order will be cancelled, was duly received. We beg to advise that shipment went forward on the 3d. The bill of lading has already been sent and the bank no doubt has it on hand at the present time. We will start an immediate tracer on the shipment, and trust, that if it has not already arrived, it will arrive without further delay. You will see that there has been no delay on our part, and we assure you that your future orders will have prompt attention.

As to our guaranteeing to ship the goods by express, will say that if you order the goods shipped by express, they will be shipped in that manner.

We cannot see where we are to be held responsible for any damage when we have not delayed the shipment. We know that it is extremely aggravating to have shipments delayed for a long time, but in this instance you should take the matter up with the R. R. Co. and should not blame us for the delay.

We trust that even though the shipment did not reach you by the 20th, you will accept it when it does arrive.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your communication of recent date, beg to advise that our invoice of May 12, 8957 will go forward tomorrow.

In regard to the flickering of the single burner light, we enclose herewith some asbestos wool, which you can put into the gas chamber. Tighten the wool a little firmer where the gasoline enters the gas chamber. The gas chamber is the open place in the generator in which the gasoline passes and is generated into gas. Try this and let us hear from you as to the result.

Gentlemen:

As per your request of recent date, we enclose herewith printed matter relative to the M. & M. light, quoting you a price of $8.00 on the inside light and $10.00 on the street light. The printed matter will give you a very good description of the light, and you will note that the overhead generator is made of 18 gauge metal. If you desire to put in a portable lamp you certainly cannot do better than to put in the M. & M. We are aware of the fact that there are portable lamps on the market that sell for less than the M. & M., but if you wish a lamp that will give you good and continued service the M. & M. is what you want. We recommend a system light in preference to a portable light, as the system light has many advantages over the portable lights, among which we might mention, that many lights, as you desire, can be run from one tank, this tank to be situated in a convenient place so that it can be filled and pumped up at any time, and with very little trouble. While the portable lamps have to be filled separately and pumped up separately. With the system lights you do away with the risk of breakage of mantles and glassware while filling and pumping up the lamp.

will make to you, and at this price we can furnish either the plain inside arc or the Harp Frame Arc. If the Stalactite Arc, or the outside lamp is ordered, the price will be $2.50 more. The printed matter that we have sent you gives a very clear description of the lights, but if there is anything further that you wish to know do not hesitate to ask. We make very strong claims for our lights. Some people think that we exaggerate. We do not ask you to take our word for it at all. We will ship an outfit to you with the understanding that it can be returned, within 30 days from date of purchase, if for any reason you do not wish to keep it. Understand, we do not say, that if it is not as represented, it can be returned, but if you do not wish to keep it, it can be returned, and we will refund the money paid for same. We certainly could not make a more liberal offer, and we trust that we may have an early order from you.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your communication relative to insurance, we return herewith a letter from the Minneapolis Board of Underwriters, and you will note that the Wonderful Doran light has not been approved and we do not claim that it has been approved, but that the One Gallon Doran light has been approved, or rather it is permitted. The Underwriters do not approve of anything but Fire Extinguishers. They do not even approve of matches, they merely permit their use. We will take the matter up with this Insurance Board and put them right on the subject. We enclose herewith information relative to Insurance on the One Gallon Doran light. You see that it is the One Gallon Doran light that is permitted, nothing else.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your favor of the 17th our communication of Feb. 5 was slightly in error, as it conveyed a wrong impression. The facts are that the Insurance companies doing business in Massachusetts charge extra premium for the use of our gasoline lamps, not only ours, but all others. The penalty referred to is the charge for extra premium. It is not that they consider that there is any particular danger with gasoline lamps, the reason that they put forth to the lamp manufacturers is that the rates in Massachusetts and several other states are much lower than they are in the West, and that they cannot afford to take the extra risk without charging for it. There are many insurance companies, however, that are not charging this extra premium. We enclose herewith information relative to insurance on the One Gallon Doran light, and if you will ask your insurance agent for a permit to use the One Gallon Doran light you may be able to secure it without having to pay extra premium, or the premium may not be sufficient to hinder you from installing the lights. However, if they do charge extra premium, and you wish to change insurance companies, we can get you insurance in a good strong company at the same rate that you are now paying, and without the additional charge for the use of gasoline lamps. We consider the gasoline lamps, when constructed in accordance with the Underwriters' rules as safe as gas or electricity.

Dear Sir:

We have yours of the 17th, and regret to advise that all of our orders for Harp Frame lamps have been delayed, owing to the fact that we have been unable to get out the lamps. Your order will go forward to-morrow, and we trust that it will be received promptly and in good condition. We trust that you have not been seriously inconvenienced by the delay, which has been unavoidable.

We enclose herewith an application blank, and will request that you kindly fill out same for the territory that you desire.

As to the J. H. Day letter, will you kindly let us know what the letter was about, and when you sent it to us; and, if possible, what reply we made you? We have no recollection of the letter whatever and are unable to locate it.

Dear Sir:

In answer to yours of May 19th, we are pleased to note that you have been successful in getting the lamp properly packed with the steel wool that we sent you. We enclose herewith some more of this for the other lamp. All of these Harp Frame lamps that we are now sending out will be packed in this manner. Under separate cover we are sending you a roll of about 25 street light circulars, giving cuts and descriptions of both the iron posts and village lights.

We are now having printed for you 5,000 circulars bearing your name and address, also the testimonials that you sent to us some time ago. These circulars should be delivered to us by the printer this afternoon, and will go forward immediately.

We find that your orders Nos. 86 and 87 have not yet gone forward, owing to a number of shortages. These repeated delays on your orders seem unreasonable, but you cannot realize the immense amount of work that it is to move a shop the size of ours, and how much it has thrown our shop work behind. During the four weeks that we were so much unsettled our stock of many parts ran out, and we have been unable to replenish them. We are rapidly getting into good shape, and within ten days or two weeks will be in a position to fill all orders even more promptly than we have in the past.

We are pleased to note that you are competing successfully with the U. S. lighting man, and have no doubt that you will soon be able to run him out of the field.

Further in reference to the circulars, a description of the Harp Frame lamp will be given in the eight-page circular, and when we send these to you we will also send circulars relative to the M. & M. lamp, and gravity lamp.

Yours very truly,

Dear Sir:

We have yours of recent date, and enclose herewith a copy of our confidential price-list. We will be pleased to have you push these lights in as much territory as you can handle, but would prefer that you do not take a large territory until you know just what you can do and demonstrate the fact to us. Then, as soon as you show us what you can do we will increase your territory, and if possible for you to handle a whole state, you shall have it. We have many agents who have started in with one or two counties, and are now controlling a large amount of territory. In this connection we might refer you to Mr. J. A. Cramer, of Hiawatha, Kans., and H. E. Meyer, of Milwaukee, Wis., who started in with a couple of counties each, and now control their respective states, making an income averaging about $500 a month.

These wonderful Doran lights are meeting with a ready sale throughout the country, and, in fact, all over the world. We are shipping large orders to South Africa, Australia, Jamaica, England, France, Japan, India, and in fact to almost every country on the globe. We have, without doubt, a standard, practical, profitable and powerful illuminant, and are competing successfully with all kinds of lighting devices. Some of the most prominent railroads throughout the country are adopting our lights; among them are the Wabash, C. B. & Q. and the Chicago & Western Indiana. The Wabash Railroad people are using 26 of these lights in their Twelfth Street depot in this city, and have been using them for some nine or ten months with good success. We note that you write on a railroad letterhead, and take it that you are connected with the railroad, therefore, you must know that it is only after long consideration that a railroad will adopt any mechanical device, and then only the best. It might also be of interest to you to know that the railroads have adopted these lights without the slightest solicitation on our part.

We will say further, in regard to the territory you wish, that we would like to have you make out a list of the counties you desire to work in and send same to us. We can then let you know whether or not we have agents in those counties. We enclose herewith an application blank, which we will be pleased to have you fill out and return to us.

Gentlemen:

We are in receipt of your telegram of this inst., and in reply thereto will say that we have no Friction Lined Boots in stock at present, and will not have again. We, however, tried to get them in the city for you, but were unable to do so.

Dear Sir:

We sent you by mail yesterday a pair of Child's Dongola Polish as near like No. 99 as we could possibly find. We were obliged to buy them out, and billed them to you at 10 cents less than regular price. Noyes, Norman & Co. state they sell them at $1.10. We hope they will please you.

Gentlemen:

Your postal card of the 30th ult. received, and we note your remarks concerning Boys' Satin Calf Bals, shipped to you on March 25. As to quality of stock and sewing of this shoe, we have never heard of a complaint previous to yours. We wish to say that this has been a very desirable shoe, and they were sold to you at less than our regular price. If you cannot use them, you are privileged to return them, for we can easily dispose of them here in the house.

Yours truly,

4.

Dear Sir:

We beg to acknowledge receipt of your esteemed favor of the 10th inst., and must say that you surely have one on us, as the writer forgot and added half instead of subtracting it. We have a balance on our ledger against you of $19.40 instead of $20.40. After deducting one-half the amount named, $3.35, there is left a balance of $16.05, which we believe to be correct. This would then be less than would be paid by your statement if the interest were added, as that would bring the amount up to $16.20.

Trusting this correction will meet with your approbation, we are,

Dear Sir:

We enclose statement of your account, $105.90, which is now nearly 3 months past due. We feel we have been as lenient in this matter as any one could reasonably expect. We have no desire to make you any trouble, but we are needing the money, and unless your remittance is received in due course of mail, we will feel obliged to place this account in the hands of our attorney for collection.

Gentlemen:

Your letter of the 18th inst. has been referred to me. In reply will say, that if you remember while in the sample room, we were talking about the price of this shoe. The price I made you was $1.35. You insisted on buying the shoe at $1.25, which, if you remember, I told you would be an impossibility for me to make. The company, however, has decided as we are very low on these shoes that you shall keep them at $1.25 net. You will find enclosed credit memorandum for 10 cents per pair.

Hoping this will be satisfactory, and that you have met with success in your sales, I desire to remain,

Our terms are net 30 days unless otherwise arranged, and accounts are payable when due whether small or large. As we can only apply to those whose accounts are due, it is impossible for us to await payment indefinitely.

Having received no reply to our letter of recent date, we beg to again remind you that your account is now past due, and we shall expect you to comply with our request without further delay.

Dear Sir:

We beg to call your attention to the fact that you are indebted to us to the amount of $15.00, covering bill of April. Contrary to our established rule, we shipped the goods in advance of the money, depending upon you to remit promptly. We did this as a matter of accommodation to you and to avoid the delay that would result from writing you to remit us in advance.

Carrying this item on our books entails as much labor and expense as a much larger amount would and, consequently, we find it necessary to have the account closed, and must ask you to remit at once.

Hoping you will give this your immediate attention, we remain,

Dear Sir:

Your telegram. "Yopp's Code," "think can put Paris P. S. Y. 5 Sellers Tanks at 28c Prompt" at hand, and in reply wired, "Cannot use Prompt or Dec., not buying any delivery at present."

You see we are long enough on oil now to take us into February possibly, and if we buy spot oil, the carrying charges would make it cost us equal to the futures, and discommode us for tank room.

Oil will have its ups and downs, but I now believe we have not seen anywhere near the bottom, and in consequence am staying out.

What about pears?

Will you have a good crop of Duchess? If so, we want to do some business with you in that line also. How soon will your 20 ounce be ready to move? Have you any Maidenblush? For fine Maidenblush, we would at present get anywhere from $2.75 to $3.00 per barrel.

We note all you say in regard to butter. Yes, the situation certainly does not look very favorable, as the make keeps up well, and we think will, right along.

What do you think about eggs? The egg situation does not seem to look quite so favorable as it did, as the production seems to keep up quite well.

Would be pleased to hear from you.

Dear Sir:

Party who bought your car seems to have purchased more stock than he could readily unload, and tells me this afternoon that he is going to ship the car out of the city. If he does this, we will get railroad heavy and light weight, which we think is preferable to the unloading weight here. Market showing lighter receipts and supply is reducing, and at the same rate for six days, supply should be low enough to cause better conditions. Suppose you are anxious for returns. If car goes out tonight, can hand you sale Saturday.

Still consider best Burbanks all right, but as to Rurals they should be bought three cents under Burbanks.

Yours respectfully,

Dear Sir:

Your favor received, advising us of the shipment of two lots of apples, and same will have our best attention. From present indications, we don't think we will have to sell your fruit for less than $2.25 to $2.50 per barrel; that is, if you pack them up nicely, and select them closely. We think there will be a good demand at those figures.

We have your favor of the 16th. We called our man in, as we did not find it profitable to keep him up there, and we shall be pleased to have prices from you from time to time, or we will wire you what we can pay, and if you cannot accept our offer, wire us the very best that you will sell at.

We are receiving large shipments from parties in your section and have every reason to believe that they are well pleased with the sales we are making for them. Let us hear from you.

Yours truly,

8.

Dear Sir:

Your letter received and noted. You had better not buy any more Tetoskeys, as they do not sell very well; they are too small, and if the demand for them should pick up, we will advise you. Just at the present time they are not moving very well, and as before stated, we do not think you had better buy any more, but confine your purchases to Duchess entirely.

Now, in regard to cherries, ship all cherries from the orchard by express. We do not want any refrigerator cherries in ours, as they arrive in poor condition; also, either ship your apples by common car, or by boat, as we do not care to have them shipped in refrigerator car.

We received your telegram today saying: "Must have money today, wire bank at once." We sent you check for $250.00 last Saturday, and you must have received same today; therefore, we wired you to know if you had received it. If you have not received it, we will wire you the money; but if you have it, it will not be necessary to send you any more at this time. We now await your reply.

Now, in regard to our sales, will say that it does not make any difference what anyone says; we know what we are doing for our customers and we know that our sales compare favorably with those of any other dealer. If goods arrive in poor condition, they will have to be sold at a low figure. We cannot get a high price for an article that is off grade, any more than anybody else can, and we should not be expected to. We know that we can get the market for good quality, as well as anyone, so we want you to figure on getting all the business you can in the way of apples, pears and plums.

The Duchess that came in today run a little small, but they are hard and firm, and better than those that came in Saturday. If you can buy a few more on the basis of about $1.25 to $1.35, wish you would do so; but get choice, well-colored, good fruit, and do not ship in refrigerator car, but ship in a common car, or by boat. They seem to come through by boat all right, and the freight is cheaper, so it might be well for you to ship in that way.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

Enclosed find sale of car No. 68992, net proceeds $279.20, and our check for $29.20 to balance. You had this car considerably overloaded, and by so doing a full train of trouble and loss has occurred.

Stock was transferred to another car and the red were all mixed up with the white, and we do not think buyer will be able to get any allowance. We settled on basis of 600 bushels.

Market now pretty low, 35 to 37 is the top, and most stock going at 31-35. Whether prices will re-act is doubtful, on account of the large quantity back and the quick arrival of new.

Gentlemen:

Our potato market is in a very satisfactory condition at present; receipts for a few days past have been very light, and, as the trade has been heavy, market is entirely cleaned up, so that dealers have to depend upon the daily arrivals for their supplies. The outside trade is also very good.

Fancy Burbanks are meeting with quick sale at 62c per bushel; choice Hebrons, Peerless and Rural New Yorkers, selling at 57 to 58c; Kings, 55 to 56c; Rose, 55 to 56c; Early Ohios, 55c; mixed white stock, 53 to 56c, as to quality; mixed red potatoes, 50 to 53c.

We do not think you could select a much better time to let a few cars come forward. We are handling a large quantity of potatoes and can give you endless shippers' references from your state, should you desire them. We have been engaged in this line of business for a period of over forty years. This will probably be ample recommendation as to our responsibility; however, would request that you have your banker look up our standing.

Our commission for handling potatoes is $10.00 per car. At your request, we shall be pleased to keep you thoroughly advised on our market.

Hoping to hear from you favorably in the near future, we are,

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

Are you shipping any potatoes? If you are, we would like to hear from you in view of doing some business with you. The cooler weather has very materially increased the demand, and good stock is now firm at 50c per bushel. Our market is practically bare, and we are in position to use a few cars to splendid advantage; therefore, trust we can handle a share of your shipments. We will make you a liberal advance upon arrival of all cars, and assure you any shipment made us will be properly taken care of. You can depend on quick sales and satisfactory results.

Let us hear from you.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Sir:

We have yours of the 9th, and we have Flax Screenings, but you are not on the right road for us. Our screenings must be shipped over the C. M. & St. P. Ry., as they would be shipped free on transit account. We should be glad to do business with you if you were on our line.

Thanking you for the favor of an inquiry, and regretting that circumstances will not admit of our taking advantage of it, we beg to remain,

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

Your name has been handed to us by your railroad agent as a large operator in apples. Will say if you are doing any business with Chicago, we would be pleased to hear from you with shipments. We handle apples largely, have a large and well established trade, both of local and shipping account, and feel that we can please you in the way of prices and prompt services.

We have been located here in the commission business for over twenty years, and shall be pleased to refer you to shippers in your locality if you desire us to do so.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

Our commission arrangement with your esteemed firm has expired; nevertheless, appreciating the courtesy shown us by you in securing orders for our product, we are happy to continue a slight acknowledgement to you as follows:

On first sales to any retail grocer we will credit you 25c per case. On all duplicate orders we will credit you 15c per case, and on or about the 15th of the month we will make you remittance for the sales of the preceding month.

Temporarily, at least, we were obliged to withdraw our coupon card proposition, same to take effect on Saturday, June 21st. All lists received prior to and bearing that date, will be promptly mailed. Of course, we will take care of our outstanding obliga-

Sales must be reported on the cards, as per enclosed, in order to keep proper record of the amount due you. An additional supply of cards will be forwarded on request.

We trust you will continue to push the greatest selling cereal of the age; the only one that pays a full 10% profit to your firm, and the above liberal commission to yourself.

Dear Sir:

Will you please write us as soon as you conveniently can, and let us know condition and prospects for the different fruit crops in your section? Also please let us know about what you will have for shipment the coming season.

We want a share of your shipments to our market, and will do our utmost to get you best results. You can depend on full market prices and quick returns, with careful attention to whatever you send us.

We call your special attention at the present time to strawberries. The shipments from Southern Michigan are well in, and the demand is brisk, especially for fancy stock. We look for the market to continue in good shape from now on. We advise liberal daily shipments as soon as any are ready to go. Our market today is $1.10 to $1.25, with fancy stock still higher.

If you have not already one of our shipping stamps, please let us know and we will mail you one at once.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Sir or Madam:

Are you interested in making money without any investment on your part? We are wholesale seed merchants and need an honest and energetic person in every town to represent us. We are business men doing business on a business basis, and not a cheap premium house giving away cheap jewelry and cheaper prizes, but we pay cash for all work done for us. We handle only fresh and reliable seed, the kind that always grow.

These are put up in regular sized handsome, lithographed packages (similar to package enclosed), each package containing seed enough of its variety for the average garden. Here is our proposition:

We propose to send you a consignment of one hundred assorted packages of vegetable and flower seed, charges prepaid, which you are to sell to your friends and acquaintances at five cents each, making a total value of $5.00. As your commission, you are to keep two cents for every package sold and remit us three cents for each package sold.

Our agents sell many hundred packages each, and you are not limited to the one hundred packages we propose sending you, but can take orders for as many packages as you can sell, retaining two cents and remitting us three cents for every package sold. In all cases cash must accompany all second orders, unless you have sold the one hundred packages we have first sent you and paid us for them, then we will send you another box on consignment, if you wish.

Remember this is not a one year's business only, but owing to the high quality of our seed, and that seed are a necessity and not a luxury, if you are energetic you can easily build up a trade which will increase each year. Everybody planting a garden must have them, for that reason they are easy sellers.

We trust you and do not ask for a deposit, but expect fair, honest treatment.

We only desire one representative to a town, and the first one in each town applying will receive the appointment; therefore, if you wish to take advantage of this offer, sign and mail to us the enclosed order, attached to the seed list. On receipt of this, we shall ship you the seed, charges prepaid.

If you cannot take advantage of this offer, will you kindly hand to some reliable person, who you think might avail himself of the opportunity.

Very respectfully yours,

Gentlemen:

We are in receipt of your favor of the 6th inst. regarding the four cases short on your shipment from Rochester. We have been after the Anchor Line regarding this, and they say they cannot produce the goods, and that the only way to dispose of this matter will be for you to present a claim to the C. R. I. & P. R. R. for this shortage, and they in turn will then settle with the Anchor Line for it. Please do this, and oblige,

Dear Sir:

Some time ago we wrote to you asking if you would get us a duplicate expense bill covering shipment from New York, Nov. 9th, on which there were four cases short. We have not received this, and if you will be kind enough to advise us the agent's name, and the road over which they arrived, also, give us about the date you received them, we will write to him and ask him for it.

As we explained to you before, we have got to have this before we can present claim. The original which you sent to us has been mislaid in some way and cannot be found.

Dear Sir:

I have before me your letter of the 12th inst. written to Curtice Brothers Co., Rochester, N. Y., and note your remarks. You state that if you pay the freight on this ketchup, the goods will cost you more than any other ketchup of the same quality. I do not wish you to think that we are egotistical, but we think that we have an article in our "Blue Label" Ketchup that is superior to anything of the kind on the market. It is not a Ketchup that sells on its price, but is sold on its quality, and while the other high-grade Ketchups to which you refer have all been sold in the past two seasons, Case Free with Five, we have not found it necessary to inaugurate any such scheme to sell our goods.

I, of course, am not in any position to know whether our salesman agreed to call on your customers and sell the goods for you or not, but you are, of course, aware that business houses do not recognize verbal agreements, and if you will refer to the copy of the order which our salesman left with you, you will find a notation to that effect on the back of it.

As there is no question as to the terms of the sale, will you be kind enough to send us draft for $4.18 to balance the account?

Thanking you in advance for an early reply, I am,

However, we appreciate that you are inclined to deal fairly with us, and in this instance will meet you half way, and allow you to deduct ¼% from our bill, which we trust will be entirely satisfactory. In our next shipment to you we will give you something that will please you in every respect.

Dear Sir:

We have yours of the 30th, and regret to hear that you are still having complaints on the 6-lb. Corned Ham. We asked our Mr. Jones as to what explanation he offered in reference to the 6-lb. Corned Ham, and he advised us that he stated it was compressed in one solid piece, and could be sliced. These facts are true. It is put up in the same manner as 6-lb. Corned Beef, but being a pork product, it naturally requires more chilling before opening. This is probably the trouble. Your butchers and grocers must keep the cans in their ice-box, so that they are thoroughly chilled before being opened. In this way the meat remains compact.

We trust you will see that these instructions are observed, and then there will be no further complaint.

Gentlemen:

We desire to call your attention to a few facts in reference to the sausage market. Prices of raw material have been exceedingly high, which has brought the cost of sausage up to prices higher than last year, and the demand has been very good for all kinds of German, French and Italian sausage, and stocks are very low.

For the next four months the only good sausage to be had will be winter-made goods, and, as already stated, the supply is becoming more limited daily. If you have not purchased enough for your requirements this summer, advise us what quantities and grade of goods you desire to purchase for this or next month's delivery, and we will name you prices thereon.

In your order, No. 8145, for Box Tools for Automatic Screw Machine, you failed to advise whether these were wanted for the No. 1 or No. 2. On receipt of this information, we shall be pleased to hurry same forward as fast as possible.

Your order No. 8000, for one Universal Milling Machine, goes forward today.

Trusting that this will be satisfactory and awaiting your further pleasure, I remain,

Gentlemen:

Replying to your favor of recent date, in reference to the second-hand Wire Feed Screw Machine, would say we have gone over the matter very carefully here and cannot find where we can place any of these machines. We will bear the matter in mind and do all that we can to help you get rid of them, but in view of our lack of space, would prefer not to have one sent here.

Enclosed I hand you pamphlet, "Latest Addition To Our Lists Of Machinists' Tools," and beg to call your attention to our new Combination Squares, the heads of which are steel, drop forged, and should be pleased to receive your order for a line of these. The discount on these Squares is the same as on the Calipers and Dividers.

Gentlemen:

Acknowledging receipt of your order for No. 514, Draftsman's Square, would say that we have discontinued the manufacture of this Square and have none on hand. I am, therefore, unable to furnish you with one. I am mailing you under separate cover copy of our latest catalogue, and would call your attention to our new line of Squares shown on pages 351 to 356 inclusive.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your favor of the 16th, in reference to recutting Spiral Milling Cutters, would say, taking into consideration the cost of transportation from Denver to Providence and return, to recut old Cutters would cost more than new ones. I think the cost of recutting Cutters, developing fire cracks during annealing and rehardening, is entirely out of proportion to the results obtained.

Gentlemen:

Referring to Chucks furnished on my order No. 522, my customer returns these, advising that they are not large enough, and he sends a sample of what is wanted. From this sample I should judge that the Chucks which you furnished are for a smaller sized Prentiss Machine than the No. 1. Kindly have your boy call for these and replace with proper size.

Gentlemen:

The Collets for the Prentiss Machine, returned by you under date of the 20th, have been sent back to manufacturer with request that he replace same at once. I very much regret this error and trust that it has not put you to any great inconvenience.

10.

Gentlemen:

Referring to recent conversation with our Mr. Clark in reference to Opening Die furnished you with set of tools for No. 2 Automatic Screw Machine, the factory advise that they think the reason the Die will not close is due to the oil forming a cushion in the cap, and they would suggest drilling a couple of holes in same to overcome this.

The trouble experienced by the Die pulling off too far is caused, they think, by the Chasers being undercut and not released properly. They forwarded you on the 16th, five sets of Chasers that were returned to makers to be replaced, and they trust that these will work better.

They think your suggestion for spindle pin is a good one, and will talk it over with the representative of the Geometric Drill Co., whom they are expecting to call on them the latter part of this week, and will advise you further in the matter.

Trusting that this will be of interest to you, and that the machine will now do satisfactory work, I remain,

Yours truly,

I have had no notice from you as to the disposition you wish made of the telephone for which you contracted. Yours truly,

(70 words)

Dear Sir:

We have been requested by a number of subscribers for telephones in private residences, to furnish a notice which may be attached to their telephone, or placed near it, calling attention to the fact that the use of the instrument is exclusively for the use of the family of the subscriber, and its use by outsiders or others is a violation of contract. So many of these requests have come in that we have printed the enclosed notice that may be used for that purpose if you desire, and which you can place upon or near your telephone.

We wish at the same time to call attention to the fact that this unauthorized use of a private telephone impairs and interferes with the service of the subscriber. It keeps the line busy when it may be needed for the subscriber's calls. Telephones in private residences are now rented at such reasonable rates that all may avail of them. In the north office district, telephone service in a private residence may be had at the rate of 5 cents a call, and upon a guarantee of 5 cents a day.

This letter and the enclosed notice are issued for the benefit of the service, in which we trust we may have your co-operation.

Yours truly,

We have just ordered of your representative a telephone to be placed in our office, designated as "XX No. 2," which we understand comes to us free from any charge for placing in or taking away from the office, or cost of the 'phone itself.

Is the above correct?

If you could give us the telephone number that will be used, we will thank you for it, so that we may make use of it in printed matter and directory.

Yours truly,

(126 words)

7.

Gentlemen:

We beg to call your attention to the fact that your telephone is frequently called for when your line is in use. You are undoubtedly aware that your use of the service is increasing. At our end of the line we know that it is frequently called for when it is in use, and such calls are delayed or lost to you because they may not be repeated when you are disengaged.

The appliances showing that the telephone is busy and the methods used in their operation are now so standardized that it is almost impossible to report a line busy when such is not the case. We should be glad to have you call at any of our operating offices to investigate this matter, and others connected with your telephone service, and feel certain that such a call would interest you and assure you of the above facts.

The daily number of telephone calls in the Chicago Exchange has increased so largely that many lines are overloaded and probably your line is busy more times than is realized by those who use it. A large number of our subscribers now have for the accommodation of their business two, three or more telephones, and some of the largest firms have more than 100 telephones each. Very many have private branch exchanges, with trunk lines and private operators to handle their calls. Such arrangements are not needed by all, but it is a fact that one telephone line will not accommodate the requirements of a large business handling a great many daily calls. There are at present several thousand subscribers who would benefit themselves and their customers by providing two or more telephones, and they are now blocking out business by trying to do with one telephone, probably ten times as much business as was accommodated when the instrument was first installed.

To accommodate this increased service we are now offering an auxiliary long distance telephone on a special circuit, operated on the measured service plan, at a cost of $75 per annum, including the privilege of sending 600 calls, excess calls being charged for at graded rates. Ingoing calls are free. This telephone may be listed with the subscriber's present number and used entirely for ingoing business; the present telephone being used for outgoing calls or for ingoing calls, when it is not busy. To a subscriber who has but one line, this arrangement gives two doors of entrance by telephone, and double the present facilities at a moderate cost. It is in the interest of the subscriber, his patrons, and of good telephone service.

It is the endeavor of the company to give the best exchange service in Chicago that can be given in so large an exchange. It is not possible to handle calls numbering frequently 100 or more, daily, on one telephone and make the service satisfactory to a subscriber or his patrons, as the line must be busy many times when called for. The remedy is to provide a sufficient number of telephones to meet the demands of the traffic, and they may be obtained on the above plan at a minimum cost.

We think you will find it worth your while to investigate this matter of your telephone service and telephone traffic. We shall be glad to furnish any available information at our end of the line at any time, and to have an agent call if desired, to present the merits and advantages of the new auxiliary service referred to.

Dear Madam:

Your favor of recent date received. We herewith enclose samples of silks, satins, velvets, ribbons, etc., and trust you will find among them many that you can use. They are all good values, fresh, this season's goods, and you will note the price at which we are offering them is such that they cannot possibly be let go, and not bought.

We also enclose samples of nets, braids, etc., which are being used extensively this season in the manufacture of fine dress hats, also street hats. Some of this braid is worth up to twice what we are now asking for it, and it is a bargain. Thinking that you have not received our late catalogue, we have sent you one under another cover, and therein you will find many wonderful bargains.

Dear Sir:

Yours of the 3d received, filled to the best of our ability. We regret to say we have nothing in a jet crown at the price you state, or in fact none at any price. As to the roses, we are about sold out, and are unable to buy any in the city at the price you state. We have sent you one dozen bunches of the best dark roses we have in the house, and a half dozen bunches of silk and velvet roses. The season being pretty well over, our stock in this line is very small, and we have sent you the best goods we have.

Yours truly,

Dear Madam:

Your favor of recent date is before us, and in reply to same will say that our spring catalogue is not ready for distribution yet. We hope, however, to have it ready for the mails by the 5th of February. On investigation we do not find your name given in either of the mercantile reports, and, consequently, do not know whether you are in the millinery business or not. If you will kindly write us, stating whether or not you carry a line of these goods for the trade, we shall, upon favorable reply, be pleased to mail you this catalogue. We think this precaution is necessary to protect all legitimate dealers whose business we solicit. We would also call your attention to the fact that we do not sell goods to the consumer direct, but deal exclusively with the trade.

Yours truly,

Dear Madam:

Replying to yours of the 6th inst., the velour which you report short in measurement is measured stretched, same as it was before being plaited. This, undoubtedly, accounts for the shortage which seemingly occurs in the goods which you have received. We think if you remeasure them you will find we are correct in our explanation of same.

Yours respectfully,

Dear Friends:

We have your favor of recent date, and send you description of one of our lots, "No. A. B. F." We trust you will find it necessary in your business and place an order with us.

We have on hand 750 dozen bunches of American Beauty roses. They come in two, three, and six roses to the bunch, bunches that never sold for less than $6.00, and some even as high as $10.50 a dozen. They are just what you need for trimming leghorns, and you cannot afford to miss this rare opportunity to buy very fine imported roses at less than half price. We offer one dozen of these large bunches, assorted, in pink, jack, white, and tea at the extremely low price of $3.95. We do not sell less than one dozen. This is a very fine lot and must go regardless of cost. You, no doubt, will see that you cannot be without it, and we hope to have your order on one or more lots.

It is several weeks since we wrote you about some printing you intended to get out. Since then, in looking over our records (which is our usual custom), we fail to find an order from you.

We write this letter to find out, if possible, the reason why. If there is anything in our way of doing business that causes your hesitancy in ordering, we would like to have you be frank with us, and allow us to explain all doubts to your satisfaction.

We want you to remember that we are anxious for your printing patronage, no matter how much or how little you may need. It is not one order we desire from you, but would like you as one of our pleased customers, and hope to obtain your patronage by our good work at money-saving prices.

If it is convenient, kindly inform us on enclosed postal card if there is anything further we can do to obtain your order, or tell us why we were not favored with same.

Gentlemen:

We have this day shipped your goods by United States Express. We hope they will reach you in good order and prove satisfactory. We have endeavored to please you in every respect, and solicit your future patronage.

If you should find it convenient, we would suggest that you mention our firm to some of your business friends, as we believe it would be to their advantage to have their work done in a metropolitan printing office.

If you refer any one in need of our services, and we obtain their order, we will give you a commission of 5 per cent in cash, or credit you on our book for a like amount, to be applied on any printing order you may desire. You may thereby receive your own work free of charge, and do a favor to your friends.

Gentlemen:

Owing to an unusual rush of business, we are somewhat behind in our work, and your order has been delayed in shipment. We will, however, send goods in a few days.

We have just completed the press work on the five thousand envelopes which you ordered by wire, and which were to be shipped with the balance of the order when finished. If you are in special need of these, we can ship them separately, and will do so upon receipt of instructions from you to that effect. Otherwise, we will hold until balance of order is ready, and make shipment complete as soon as possible.

We pride ourselves as being one of the few printing houses that don't know dull seasons. We are working every branch of our business to its full capacity every day, and often nights, throughout the year, which is one of the reasons for our low prices.

Assuring you that your order will receive prompt attention, and appreciating your patronage, we are,

Gentlemen:

We take pleasure in calling your attention to our new work, entitled "Story of Our Nation," by Ella Hines Stratton, the well-known authoress. This charming volume will have an immense sale, for it is an entirely new work, very attractive and valuable.

We mail you a canvassing book so that you can see what a superb work we are offering you. Please examine carefully and you will then be convinced that this is one of the most unique and fastest selling books ever published.

We call especial attention to the style in which this charming history of our country is written. The story is narrated by conversations, including questions and answers. A highly educated matron gathers a group of young persons about her, and with admirable tact, pleasant stories and a strict adherence to historic facts, tells them the history of our great country from the discovery of America by Columbus down to the present time.

This very attractive and valuable work is printed on fine calendared paper. It contains more than 500 large octavo pages, and is beautifully illustrated with several hundred magnificent lithographed plates and superb phototype engravings.

We will print 1,000 sets of circulars, containing your name and address, free of charge, on receipt of your order for 25 books. Additional circulars will cost you one dollar per thousand for the large descriptive, and fifty cents per thousand for the small circulars.

We await your order for books and circulars, and remain,

Gentlemen:

We enclose circular of a new book which we are just publishing, and which we would like to have you handle. The prospectus is now ready and we will have complete books in two weeks.

The interest in naval matters, growing out of the Schley-Sampson controversy makes this a very timely book. It includes complete biographies of our naval heroes from Admiral Schley back to John Paul Jones, as well as a vivid account of every important naval battle in which American ships have been engaged. There are also chapters on Feats of Heroism, the New Navy, etc.

The book contains nearly 700 pages and 100 very attractive illustrations, mostly half-tones. We will be pleased to send you a sample prospectus, if you are interested.

There is no competition on this book, and it is bound to have an enormous sale. We will furnish circulars printed in two colors, with your imprint, at $2.25 per 1,000; prospectuses at $17.50 per 100; complete books at 75 per cent discount from retail prices.

Hoping to hear from you favorably, we are,

To the Agent:

We are sending you herewith a picture and description of our fine Morocco bound, gold edged edition, of the "Authentic Life of William McKinley." The paper on which it is printed is exactly the same size as a leaf of your book.

Paste it, using mucilage on the edge, in the front of your prospectus, and always show and try to sell this style of binding. It is really the cheapest—because it is so durable—and it is the book you should always sell to those who wish to use it as a present.

So many people have called for a fine Morocco bound, gold edged book, that we have made this. It costs us more than twice as much to make as the cloth style, hence, it is proportionately cheaper than the cloth book. Still you make more than twice as much money on every one of the Morocco books as you make on the cloth binding. Is not that worth a special effort?

We shall certainly hope that you will sell a large proportion of this Morocco binding in the future. You may also be able to get many, who have heretofore subscribed for the cheaper style, to take this. Do so wherever you can.

Always read or talk the arguments on the back of the picture to your customer. Begin by showing this best binding first, and come down to the cheaper bindings only when you cannot get an order for the best.

Your friends,

Gentlemen:

It will now pay you to circularize extensively for agents on "The Martinique Horror and St. Vincent Calamity." We are well aware that publishers who mailed out postal cards and circulars a few days after this terrible calamity, did not get as many agents as they expected.

This was due to the fact that at the time publishers sent out their circular matter, the people throughout the country had heard but little about the terrible volcanic eruptions in Martinique and St. Vincent. Men are now talking about these fearful devastations, and now is the time to secure agents for this very attractive and fast selling book.

We have gone to the expense of making a larger and more attractive circular, showing the desolation caused by this horrible calamity. The eruptions have continued, and now everybody realizes what an overwhelming horror has overtaken the people of these ill-fated islands.

The fact that our author, who is a member of the Geographic Society of the United States, is writing from personal observation, gives us a great advantage over all other manufacturers. The people want the true story of these appalling catastrophes from an eye-witness—they are not satisfied with the conflicting and unreliable newspaper accounts that other publishers are copying in making their books.

Many publishers who began selling inferior books are now ordering prospectuses of us, and they will push the sale of our work and deliver our books to all their customers. We made no mistake when we sent our author toMartinique, for doing this has given us a great advantage over our competitors who would not spend money to secure the best authorship.

We have just added a large number of new illustrations to our book and can fill orders for prospectus books at an hour's notice.

Send us your order for 50 prospectus books for "Martinique Horror and St. Vincent Calamity," which will only cost you $5.00, and if your agents cannot sell our book twice as fast as any other similar work, then we will cancel the charge for these propectuses.

This great work not only contains a complete and authentic account of the recent terrible calamities, but it also contains an account of the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum in the year 79 A. D. and accounts of all the most noted Volcanic Eruptions. If you want to make money fast, push the sale of our great work, which is selling twice as fast as any other History of Volcanic Eruptions.

We await your order for canvassing books and circulars, and remain,

Very truly yours,

1.

Dear Sir:

Just a line to remind you of your contemplated call at this office to talk over matters pertaining to your policy No. 321400, which is to mature at an early date.

We trust you will find it convenient to call soon and will ask that you telephone in advance, if possible, stating about what day and hour it will be convenient, that our Mr. James, who has this matter in charge, may be present to meet you.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

Company have issued policy No. 217559 upon your life, amount being $5,000, plan 30 year endowment, annual premium, $204.35. We inclose this policy herewith together with Company's receipt for this first annual premium, the same having been deducted from the discount value of your old policy No. 157013, net check for which discount was sent you on 5th ult.

Thanking you for this favor, and with kind regards, we are,

Yours truly,

3.

Dear Sir:

Your favor of 17th inst. at hand and noted.

If your policy No. 146221 were to be made Paid Up in five annual payments, more or less, the character of the policy would not be changed thereby, excepting that after the final payment had been made it would remain upon our books fully paid, and payable to your family or estate upon your death. As regards dividends thereon, they would naturally be much smaller than the dividends paid at the present time, as the policy would be deprived thereafter of that principal source of dividend—excess premiums. Your contract contains no guarantees as to Paid Up insurance, and in this respect in its Paid Up condition, the contract would differ in no wise from the policy as it stands at the present time.

Yours truly,

4.

Gentlemen:

Your letter of 28th inst., regarding payment of claim under policy No. 236425 on the life of James Roe, is to hand.

Company say they will, immediately upon receipt of policy receipted by Mary Roe, send check for $1,004.26 in settlement of the claim. All the dividends, except the one which has been placed to the credit of the policy as additional insurance, have been used. Send us the policy so receipted, and we will receipt you for it and forward at once for payment of claim.

Yours very truly,

5.

Dear Sir:

We believe that we have not been favored with a letter from you since we paid claim upon the life of your father, 60 days since. We had hoped that the way might open for you to favor us with your application, and that we might be privileged to issue a policy on your life to take the place of that which had gone off our books through the death of your father.

We recall that you have been placing a great deal of reliance on Society Insurance, and wish to say to you now, as we have in time past, that that form of so-called insurance has been tested and found wanting. It has been offered every opportunity to illustrate the benefits of its particular methods, but they have invariably been shown to lack stability, and loss has ultimately resulted in all cases. With many of those still in existence and which have stood very high in public esteem in times past, the end is in sight, and to none more clearly than to those intimately connected with such associations.

It would give us great pleasure to enroll you in our membership, and we trust that we shall be permitted so to do in the near future.

Yours truly,

6.

Dear Sir:

A few days since we received the Bankers' National current premium on your policy No. 237057. Does this mean that you have abandoned all idea of discounting the policy and getting your money thereon at this time? It should not be necessary for us to assure you that the statements contained in our letter are to be relied upon, and that if you desire to discount this policy at this time, the same can be done under the conditions as set forth in our correspondence.

Your policy will so soon mature by its terms in any event, that we believe your interest lies along the line of early action upon insurance to replace it. Insurance is to be had at lower cost now than will be the case when this contract matures, so that whether you discount this policy or not, we know it will be dollars in your pocket to start a new contract without further delay. We shall be pleased to hear further from you at an early date, and trust that you will not close a deal for discounting the policy referred to, without first favoring us with your decision in the matter. We also trust that upon receipt of this you will conclude to make application for a new policy to start at once, and beg to remain,

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

We forwarded your note for $1,600, for increased loan on your policy No. 198536, to company.

Inclosed find your note, $1,100, canceled, receipt for $115, interest on the new note for one year, and company's check for $10. The premium for the current year on the above policy has also been deducted, which balances the account.

Very truly,

(74 words)

8.

Dear Sir:

We notice by our records that your rate changes on June 2d, as in life insurance we always figure a man's age to his nearest birthday. If you can get your application in within the next few days, we could date your policy back so as to get you in at age 43. As this would save you considerable in gross premiums, we believe it to be to your interest to do so.

Regarding our Exchangeable Term and Investment policy would say that the great advantage of this form of policy lies in the fact that it furnishes immediate protection at a very low rate, with the privilege of changing to higher form within five years. Thus, if a man feels the need of immediate protection for his family, and is not in a position to pay the premium on a high class policy, he can take an E. T. & I. policy and in five years or less change the policy

Dear Sir:

We write to call your attention to the fact that the interest on loan on your policy has not as yet been paid. When the Company loan on a policy they do not require the interest in advance, but are willing to allow the loan to run for six months before realizing anything on it. This is an additional reason why all interest items should be paid promptly, and as you are now 30 days past due, we trust you will give it immediate consideration, as the safety of your policy is involved.

Dear Sir:

We are in search of information regarding one John R. Smith who has a policy in this Company. We have written to Mr. Smith's last address but the letter has been returned, "not found." The postmaster, however, upon our request, has given us your name as a party who might know something of Mr. Smith, or of his relatives. Mr. Smith's policy in this Company is about to mature, and we wish to get into communication with the parties having claims thereunder. You, at one time, were the assignee under this policy. Have you still a claim upon it? If not, why was not a release of assignment sent us? Our records show Smith's sister, Adaline, as the beneficiary, but we can find no trace of her, either from the address on our books or through her friends. Both Smith and his sister seem to have disappeared. The policy has been Paid Up for several years, having been surrendered for non-payment of premium, and Mr. Smith has not kept us posted as to his change of address.

Any information you can give us along this line will be greatly appreciated by,

We are just in receipt of your letter of the 12th, inclosing application for information concerning our twenty-year bond policy, and in reply to same will say that this matter has been turned over to our Mr. George Brown, of your city, who will call on you during the next few days and explain to you the advantages of this particular policy.

Thanking you for the inquiry, we beg to remain,

12.

Dear Sir:

At the suggestion of our mutual friend, Mr. Walter Williams, we write to call your attention to one of the most important things that is brought to the attention of business or professional men today—the matter of insurance on your life, which you carry for the protection of your Family and Estate. Business men are realizing as never before that there is no line of investment so comprehensive in scope as Life Insurance.

Money invested in this direction fulfills a double purpose—protection to home and property, and a Savings Bank. As Insurance contracts are now drawn, they accomplish the latter feature as well as the former, and to a surprising degree.

The policy contracts of the present day, unlike those of years past, are filled with liberal guaranteed features. They provide annual stipulated surrender values, both Cash and Paid Up, and an annual Loan value. The Paid Up value is automatic in operation,

numerous

options popularity covering proportionately sufficient commensurate proposition hesitate prepared

so that no loss could occur under one of these policies, no matter for what reason it became forfeited. These policies are incontestable after one year, contain 30 days grace clause, give privilege to change beneficiary, and provide numerous options of settlement.

The above features are contained in all the regular contracts, including the Straight Life plan. Still another point, and one of increasing popularity, is the privilege given to Family or Estate of taking the proceeds in Instalments, covering any number of years from 2 to 20, thus providing a Guaranteed Income. If taken in this way, the amount would be increased proportionately.

We doubt not that as a man of good business judgment you are carrying Life Insurance. Is it of the right kind, and is it of sufficient amount? If you were taken away would your Family receive an Income commensurate with their needs as your estate stands to-day? If not, lose no time in increasing your Life Insurance, for you cannot protect your loved ones at as low cost in any other way.

Will you not send us your date of birth that we may submit a proposition? Do not hesitate because you think you "can't afford it." If you are not prepared to pay for one of the regular plans at this time, we have a Term Policy that will surprise you.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

Our annual Spring Announcement Number will be published on April 1st, and we shall endeavor to make it of as great practical value to the trade as possible. That the list of your announcements may be complete and the notes on your books accurate, please send us a complete list of your announcements for the spring and summer months, with descriptions of the books or information as to their character, scope, etc., such as will enable booksellers to order intelligently.

If the probable date of publication can be given to us with each title, it will greatly assist the editor in making his comments and arranging the matter so that it will be most convenient for quick reference.

Titles, information, and all matter intended for editorial use in this number, should reach us not later than March 24th. Advertising copy can be received up to March 27th. We would be glad, however, to receive such copy as much earlier as possible, in order to give you ample opportunity to examine the proofs.

Yours truly,

Dear Sirs:

Have you as yet arranged for your fall advertising? If not, it might be to your interest to consult us before you do so. If you are looking to place your advertising on an economical basis with the maximum results, we would like to acquaint you with our methods of doing business. Our many years of experience are at your disposal. We know pretty thoroughly the value as an advertising medium of nearly every publication in the country, as we have done business with them all and will only recommend such mediums to our customers which are best suited to their business.

The interest of our customers is identically the same as ours, and the writer's sole duty is to study the advertising features and business in general of our customers and advertisers who may write us for suggestions and information as to the best way to promote and increase their business. We have also in our employ ad. writers who are second to none, and whose services are at your disposal should we be intrusted with the handling of your advertising. Our customers get the benefit of our extremely low rates.

We shall be glad to furnish you prices and full particulars on any work in our line, and believe it will be to your interest to let us figure with you before placing your fall advertising. It is not so much what you say in an advertisement as how you say it. Thousands of dollars have been worse than wasted on poorly written ads. and as a natural consequence the mediums carrying these ads. are condemned when the ad. fails to bring results. The same article handled by an experienced ad writer might have proven a great success.

Don't buy advertising like you would a load of hay, when it don't cost any more for the employment of brains, which is essential in the placing of advertising on a profitable basis. May we show you what we can do for you in this direction?

Awaiting an early reply, we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

4.

Dear Sir:

Answering your favor of the 9th inst., we take pleasure in mailing you a sample copy of "The Book-Keeper" to-day, also some advertising testimonials, all of which we trust will reach you promptly.

The rate for advertising in "The Book-Keeper" is only $80 per page, per insertion, smaller spaces in exact proportion, as explained by the enclosed rate card. This rate is very low, indeed, considering the circulation which "The Book-Keeper" has and the class of people which it reaches. Every copy goes to a paid subscriber, consequently, when you advertise in it you do not pay for a lot of waste circulation, as is the case in the majority of publications.

The testimonials we are sending you will convince you that "The Book-Keeper" is a great puller, especially for mail order. We are certain if you will give it a trial you will be only too glad to remain a steady advertiser in it. We do not tie anyone up on a long time contract. If "The Book-Keeper" will make money for you, we want you to use it; but if it will not do you good service, then you are at liberty to discontinue at any time.

The fact that it carries more advertising than any other magazine in the market, with one or two exceptions, is the best evidence that it does what we claim for it. In addition to its large circulation among office people and others, we cover the entire stationery trade, consequently your announcements will be brought to the attention of both dealers and users.

We will be very glad indeed to receive your order, and if you will let us hear from you early, we can give you a choice position in the next issue.

Sincerely yours,

This will give you nearly four million circulation for $7.00 per line, and will secure you two insertions in the best Mail Order pullers.

The month of September is usually the best month when all Mail Order advertisers start. By using August and September issues you will prepare for a good Mail Order business during the coming fall. No such offer has ever been made or can be made by any other Agency.

Dear Sir:

We have addressed you once before in reference to your advertising, and not receiving any response to our letter take the liberty to do so again.

May we ask if you are satisfied with the results from your past advertising? Perhaps they can be increased without any extra expenditure. Have you ever considered duplication in circulation and tried to avoid it? Are you getting the lowest rates obtainable as well as the best services? When you place your advertising through us you get the benefit of our vast experience, our thorough knowledge of the pulling powers of nearly all mediums published, the lowest rates, prompt and careful service.

The essential features for the success of advertising depend upon good circular work, good copy, avoiding duplications, and low rates. We always look out for the interest of our customers in this regard. Our long experience in this particular line; the great amount of business done each year; and our close connection with all the large advertising mediums, places us in a position to offer our customers the very best returns for the money paid.

In the past fifty years advertising has never brought better returns than now. If your advertising is not bringing you the results you anticipated, we would like to co-operate with you and ascertain the cause.

Trusting to hear from you, we remain,

Dear Sir:

We are sending you today a sample copy of the American Advertiser, which goes to retail merchants in every State of the Union, and is highly appreciated, as the enclosed testimonials show. We solicit business from you at a 50c an inch per issue rate, with 10 per cent discount for cash with order.

We believe that an ad. of the nature of yours would pay big returns on the investment; anyhow, it is worth the trying. It is little monetary risk on your part. We are carrying quite a few advertisers on yearly contract and they write us that they are satisfied with the investment, and that is a pretty good admission for an advertiser.

We could fill our paper with "cheap" advertising, but we have not that class of readers. The kind of advertising we want is your kind or we will have none at all. By looking over the advertising pages of the issue we send you, you will see that we haven't a fake mail order scheme in it, or any ads. of cheap John printers.

Dear Sir:

We take the liberty of mailing you a sample copy of our monthly journal, and trust that you will give the same a careful perusal.

You will observe that three courses of lessons in business penmanship and one course in ornamental penmanship are being conducted in the journal at the present time by four leading penmen and teachers. Four such noted experts have never before been engaged to give lessons in the same journal at the same time. Heretofore, such enterprise has been something entirely unheard of in the realm of this class of journalism. Such an opportunity to learn to write well has certainly never before been offered by any other penmanship publication. Then the department of business education contains from month to month the most instructive, interesting and valuable literature ever contributed to this great and growing cause.

We want your name on our subscription list, believing that if you receive the journal one year, you will then become a permanent subscriber. The regular subscription price is $1.00 per year, but as an extraordinary inducement for you to subscribe now, we offer you the journal one year for but 50 cents.

We are pleased to say that our journal is now gaining very rapidly in public favor. Subscriptions are pouring in from all parts of the country, and from foreign countries, and subscribers are enthusiastically recommending it to others. We feel sure that as a subscriber you would do the same.

Yours very truly,

Dear Sir:

This Agency is placing more classified (Want) advertising in Dailies and Sunday papers than all other Agencies combined—a claim which publishers will bear out. Prompt and honest services, experience of years, low rates, intelligent selection of papers that pay, and careful checking, have brought us this large patronage, and nothing else. We know the papers that are necessary for the success of our patrons, and they know it is so.

We give economical and efficient services, and are therefore patronized by all who wish their money to go the farthest, and also to be sure that their ads. are published in every paper they pay for, and not only in a part of them.

After thorough checking, every advertiser receives his money back for omissions, if they occur on account of oversight, carelessness of publishers, or other reasons.

Through us you can have the best for less money than others charge. If you want such services as we alone can give for this class of business, we will be pleased to receive and to fully execute your orders.

Hoping to hear from you, we remain,

Gentlemen:

You may record us as approving your methods. We recognize that advertising a strictly high-class table water that appeals only to a certain class of people, is not as easy as something that is purchased by the masses.

You are doing our work better than we thought it possible, and we certainly consider it a pleasure to tell you of our satisfaction.

Business is booming with us all along the line. Have just received an order for three car-loads to be shipped to Shanghai. No doubt the excellent magazine advertising you are doing for us now is responsible for this order.

Dear Sir:

On February 1st, next, we publish a Finding Catalogue of the books published in 1903. This catalogue, which is by titles and subjects, is in constant use by thousands of booksellers for a whole year and very often for much longer.

The past year has been marked by an extraordinary independent publishing movement. We have over 500 names on our lists, all of them new to the trade, of publishers reporting one or two books only. A book so published, unless it makes an immediate mark, is inevitably buried out of reach of booksellers, who cannot find the address of the publisher when the book is inquired for. Even the entry in such a list as ours is often valueless, as would-be purchasers remember only a part of a title, or get it mixed up hopelessly. The trade, however, make quite as much use of their advertisements in their trade journals as of other parts of the paper, so that an advertisement of your book in this February 1st number will be in service for a very long time where it will afford instant information to booksellers all over the country when your book is called for.

We desire to call your attention to the fact that an inch of space, amply sufficient for one or two titles, with prices and short press notices, and your name and address, will cost you but $2.25. If you are a bookseller or otherwise interested in our paper, we offer you a year's subscription and an inch advertisement in the annual catalogue number for $3.00.

Copy for the advertisement, accompanied by a check or cash, must reach us by January 25th to be available for the catalogue number.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir:

Mr. Spilman states that you are desirous of making a settlement of your business with him, and that he has no money at present with which to pay you. He, therefore, desires to make arrangements with us to take up your claim as we have the other liens against the place. Kindly inform us if you wish to do anything in regard to the matter, and what you will take for your papers; also what they amount to at the present time. Your mortgage seems to cover only forty acres of the land now owned by him.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your esteemed favor of the 9th inst., regarding the John Harris matter, would ask if we make the arrangement you refer to, would you guarantee the payment of our debt in full, within another year? Also, who would give the note, what chattel security would you have for the $50, and when would it be due?

We have done considerable preliminary work for the foreclosure, but could waive that in case a satisfactory arrangement is arrived at and will wait a few days to hear further from you.

In regard to the Addison E. My dear Sir:

Your favor of the 11th inst., containing assignment of the Platt heirs for the Lucinda Moore mortgage, is at hand. We note what you say about wanting the $500, and while we would like very much to accommodate you, we have no authority in such cases, where the money is left by third party, to forward the same except upon receipt of papers, as they are payable here. As you have sent East for them, it will be probably only a matter of a few days until you can have the money in your hands through them. Were it not for the fact that collections of our own are so slow now, owing to the low price of grain, we would, as a personal matter, take pleasure in accommodating you for the Platts.

Dear Sir:

I beg to offer for your consideration as an investment, a limited number of the shares of this Company. The property consists of 7,340 acres of coal land in Crook County, Wyoming, within 50 miles of Deadwood, South Dakota; the smelting center of the Black Hills, where the demand for coal is very great.

The land lies in a body and consists of a plateau having an elevation of some 300 feet; there are three veins of coal exposed so far as the development work has been done, each 3 feet, 4 feet and 6 feet thick. The first two veins are above the level, running horizontally through the plateau without perceptible dip, hence the coal can be mined by simply drifting, thus doing away with all expense of shafts, hoisting, pumps, etc. The third vein is 100 feet below the level of the plain, hence it will, when reached, be mined in the ordinary way.

The coal is hard black bituminous, of high grade and superior quality for steam and the manufacture of gas and coke. The company's engineers compute that the coal can be put on board the cars at the mine for 65 cents per ton, and as coal in the Black Hills is worth $3.00 to $4.00 per ton, being most of it shipped from Illinois, the enormous profits which must arise to the company from the operation of this property is at once apparent.

The engineers estimate the amount of coal in the property at 103,912,380 tons, and report the roof to be excellent for mining purposes, requiring very little timber; such as is required exists on the property. The company will have practically no competition in its field, this being the largest and best coal deposit in that section, what other coal there is in that region is mined with much cost and difficulty, that deposit having been much disturbed by volcanic action.

The company commences active operations at once and expects to become a big dividend payer from the start. The capital stock of the company is $2,500,000, the shares being of the par value of $100 each. To raise balance of necessary working capital, I can sell you a few shares at $50 per share. Coal mining lacks that element of uncertainty attached to mining for other minerals, and consequently is a straight, legitimate business proposition, not a gamble. Any further information desired will be cheerfully furnished. I highly recommend the stock as an investment.

Yours sincerely,

P. S. Under no circumstances will shares be sold at less than par value after the number set aside for this purpose has been disposed of.

We have seen this tract personally and will guarantee the description. There are no improvements on the land other than the breaking. The balance is prairie land and every foot can be cultivated. The owner of the land furnished the seed for the sowing of the crop last year, and receives one-half of the crop, he paying the expense of threshing his share. This gives an unusually large share of rental to the purchaser, if they have a good crop this fall. Shall be glad to hear further from you in regard to this tract, and are satisfied that you will be well pleased with it should you decide to purchase.

Dear Sir:

We are desirous of obtaining representation in your city and locality, and your name has been suggested to us as a proper person to handle our specialties, descriptions of which will be found in the enclosed illustrated circular.

We want a reliable, active individual, whose duties it will be to call on Banks, City and County Officials, Manufacturing, Law and Insurance offices. Your territory has never been worked with our line, and judging from the large sales of our goods in other sections, you will meet with success.

All salesmen, with an established trade, find our specialties an excellent side line. We paid one man, last month, $68 in commissions on sales of our goods, and he has been selling them over the same territory for the past two years. For a capable man, there is much good money to be made in handling our specialties along with other goods for the office.

Kindly give this matter your attention, and if you decide to handle our goods, we will be pleased to go into details regarding our methods and the amount of compensation we can allow. If you cannot take hold of this, will you kindly recommend some one in your city who would make a good man for us? By so doing you will confer a great favor.

Very truly yours,

My dear Sir:

It is often easier to make money than to keep it. There are so many temptations to go into wild speculations. You read in the papers nearly every day of fortunes made in gold mines and in stock speculation.

When you have paid all your bills and have several thousand dollars lying idle in the bank, there is a great temptation to buy oil stocks or, in fact, anything that you are told will pay big dividends. Promoters hear that you have made money and they make you believe that you can make immense fortunes by investing a few thousand dollars in their schemes.

It is true that a few business men have made money in stocks, but nine outsiders lose to one who makes. It is the insiders who make the money. By insiders is meant the men who control the companies. Outsiders who simply buy stock have but little chance of making anything. As a rule they lose every dollar they put into schemes the stocks of which are sold by promoters. Men who make money boast of their success, but men who lose seldom say anything about their losses.

You can, no doubt, readily call to mind cases among your own acquaintances, or friends, persons who have been induced to buy stocks because they were cheap, and who have since learned that there was not the least chance of such stocks ever having any real value—that they were simply put on the market to sell, and are generally bought by those who expect to get more than they pay for.

The writer has been swindled by promoters and therefore speaks from experience. Promoters are men who induce you to buy mining stocks, oil stocks, and, in fact, any kind of stocks that are not sold by reliable brokers. When a promoter tries to induce you to buy stocks, refer him to a reputable broker and tell him you will buy nothing that your broker does not tell you is all right. Then the promoter will come to the conclusion that he cannot sell you a gold brick, and let you alone.

No promoter ever tried to sell you Pennsylvania Railroad Stock, New York Central, Chicago & Northwestern, or anything of real value.

We hope the advice contained in this letter will prove of value to you and prevent your being swindled by promoters. We remain,

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

I have, placed with me for sale, choice coal properties, aggregating in value over $50,000,000.

Many of these properties are now placed on the market for the first time. They comprise tracts of land and coal, together, and coal, alone, ranging from 500 to 75,000 acres in area, and located in Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Washington and British Columbia.

These properties are desirable, either for immediate operation, or for holding as an investment. Some are now being worked, and show a good margin of profit. Others are in an undeveloped state, but careful and systematic surveys and expert geological investigations give positive proof of their intrinsic value. The good coal properties are being so rapidly taken up by operators and investors that it is beyond a possibility that the prices will ever be lower than they are at the present time.

The rapid development of the railroad systems and the consequent increase in transportation facilities, in the territory in which these properties are situated, are also factors that tend to increase their value. I shall be pleased to furnish full particulars concerning any of these tracts upon application. I am also in a position to expeditiously secure advantageous options, upon blocks of coal of any size and in any desired locality.

I make a specialty of securing such properties for syndicates. If you will let me know the size of tract, and the location you desire, I can get it for you, and get it at a lower figure than you can. Long experience has made me familiar with the best locations, and with the real values of coal properties, and my method of obtaining options is such that I secure the lowest possible prices.

My facilities for handling this class of properties are unsurpassed, and I will execute, with all possible dispatch, any commission with which I may be honored.

If this proposition does not interest you, will you kindly accord me the courtesy of handing it to some investor who would be likely to be interested in it, with the request that he write to me?

Awaiting your reply, I am,

Very truly yours,

Our inspection department advises us that they cannot furnish steel to meet Hartford specifications with the above reduction of area. The best they can do would be to furnish material with 50 per cent reduction of area, tensile strength as given.

Please let us have your prompt reply, advising if it will be satisfactory to furnish material subject to this modification.

Your favor of the 30th at hand, regarding the balance of 360 ft. of ⅝ in. round steel on your order 14563 for shipment to Walter White & Company. We have conferred with our Warren mill again,

We also assumed it would be more satisfactory to you for us to make combination here rather than have the sheets shipped from the Sheet Co. Mills to your own mills for combination, which you objected to some time since.

You will receive from the P. F. W. & C. Union Line, 77375, consigned to us at Chicago. On arrival, kindly reconsign to Francis Smith & Co., San Francisco, Calif., forwarding via C. & N. W., Union Pacific and Southern Pacific.

You will note from the Bill of Lading that this car originated at McKeesport, Pa., and it contains No. 14 gauge plate steel, on which we understand the through rate from McKeesport to San Francisco to be 75c, on which the line west of Chicago is entitled to 61½c. Will you kindly arrange to have this car billed at proportion of through rate, and send us the bill for prepayment of charges west of Chicago? In which case you will note an overcharge of 1½c, as we have paid 15c east of Chicago. This 1½c we will expect to recover by claim, or, if satisfactory, bill west at sixty (60) cents, protecting through rate of 75c, in which case there will be no claim.

Kindly advise us date of forwarding and furnish Bill of Lading as soon as you receive the car.

The balance of this order calls for a small lot of flats which will probably be completed and shipped by the 25th inst., together with the balance due on your orders, 17764, 18112, 18313 and 17760. We note there is considerable yet to be shipped on your order 18111 calling for rounds and square steel. This we will endeavor to roll and ship inside of 10 days. There is a small balance yet to be shipped on your order No. 17760 calling for 19 bars of 2½x⅜ half oval cut 10 ft. 6 in. It is impossible for us to name definite date as to when we will be able to get this forward, owing to the small amount due; however, we will place same in mill and will get it out at first rolling. The 1 in. groove steel on your order 18114 will be rolled and shipped in about two weeks.

Gentlemen:

Referring to order for Williams, White & Co., our customer desires that you ship none of this material before Feb. 1st, but that you have shipment commence immediately thereafter.

Would also call your attention to our order No. 28642, placed with you on the 18th ult., for sheet metal, to be shipped to the Morris Machine Company. This metal should have been delivered not later than the 20th of this month. These people are writing us almost daily to know when they may expect this metal. Please hurry this shipment forward at the earliest possible moment, also advise as to date forwarded.

Your compliance with this request will oblige,

Yours of the 31st ult. to hand, also your telegram of the 2d regarding balance due the Deering Harvester Co. as set forth in your favor. We have placed these balances in the hands of our Rollers and will strain a point to clean them up during the next week. We are giving these people liberal shipments. Will get forward four or five car loads this week and early next, applying on their various orders for Angles.

We would esteem it a favor if you would have our friends, the Deering Harvester Co., confine their correspondence either through your office or direct. We are receiving daily communications from them direct, which are virtually duplicates of your communications, and the duplicity in correspondence not only complicates matters, but requires considerable extra work.

Dear Sirs:

We have your favors of the 6th inst., with orders, Nos. 32693 to 32700, inclusive, and also order No. 32742. All of this material will be entered for our very best attention and care.

Referring to the No. 12 gauge material on the above orders, would advise you that we cannot guarantee to have all of these pieces true to the gauge specified, as it will run somewhat heavy, probably close to No. 10. Please advise us, therefore, whether it will be satisfactory to furnish these pieces as light as our rolls will permit.

Also the 4.88 lb. material on order No. 32742 will be heavy to gauge, as material of this sort will average at least 5½ lbs. Kindly advise if it will be satisfactory to roll this as light as we can.

Gentlemen:

We have your Mr. Porter's favor of the 30th ult., relative to balances on Deering Harvester Co.'s orders. Order No. 15960, we referred to your invoice of Jan. 14th, as your Mr. Graham's letter of the 24th stated that this specification was completed on the 14th ult. However, no notice of shipment or invoice has as yet come to hand, and we still show a balance due.

Order No. 15967, we still show a balance of 1007 lbs., of the 1 in. x 1/8 in., and we believe if you will carefully go over your figures again, you will note that the total of 1887 and 156 lbs. shipped, amounts to 2743 instead of 3743 as stated in your letter, which leaves a balance of 1007 lbs.

We would be pleased to hear from you as soon as possible regarding this, and oblige,

Dear Sirs:

We have your favor of the 14th inst., with reference to the No. 12 gauge steel on orders, Nos. 2693 to 2700, inclusive, and also order No. 2742. Having gone over these sizes again, and as the material does not call for anything very wide, we will try our best to roll the same as near No. 12 as we possibly can, thinking that we can do much better than No. 10 that we recently wrote you about.

Our reason for advising you that No. 10 would be about the best we can do was that on the narrowest pieces they will be run double, and after finished, of course, the center of the plate as run would really become the edge after shearing, and would be heavier on that account, it being our custom to run plates double when there are so many pieces; but, as we have just stated, we will do the very best we can for you.

We also have your other favor of the same date, with further reference to orders No. 32167 and 8. Have already advised you that we would make shipment yesterday, and glad to say we did so.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your favor of the 9th, relative to No. 12 gauge steel on orders, Nos. 2693 to 2700, inclusive, and also order No. 2742, would advise you that we have been furnishing this material right along and this is the first time you have brought the question up; in fact you shipped the same specifications to this customer on the 12th, on a previous order. We have not been advised of any change in rolling mill practice, or in the schedule of permissible variations allowable for this gauge, and as the widths are all well within your limits, we hardly feel that you are justified in forcing this condition. We trust upon reconsideration you will arrange to roll the orders as specified within the usual variation.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your letter of the 24th inst., relative to overweight on invoice of the 19th, we have carefully investigated and cannot find any unusual discrepancy. The estimated weight according to our calculations is as follows:

1st item	9433 lbs.
2d item	4238 lbs.
3d item	23680 lbs.
Total	37351 lbs.

Actual weight is 37960 lbs., overweight 611 lbs., or only 1-6/10%.

Regarding the item of 281 Sheets No. 9 stubbs gauge x 37"x 41¼", we do not understand how you arrive at the overcharge you claim. This gauge is .194" thick and weighs 7.95 lbs. per sq. ft. The item figures 2978.6 lbs. per sq. ft., making estimated weight 28680 lbs. We trust upon further investigation you will find we are correct.

The last item should read 41¼ in. instead of 41½ in.

We have wired you as follows: "Shipment on Standard Oil Co. orders went forward Wednesday," which we now confirm.

Dear Sir:

Referring to our letter of the 28th ult., by our Mr. Moody, from Steubenville, Ohio, regarding changes which you arranged to make with him on orders entered with La Belle: La Belle advise they have changed the 15¼ in. wide on your order No. 3024 to .12 carbon steel, but the change on the stock 10¾ in. wide which they expected to roll this week on your order No. 3045 they do not think is correct, as the stock they rolled is high carbon.

They state their understanding is that you wish this rolled No. 15 gauge, but other orders No. 3002 and No. 3024, for which they cannot secure high carbon steel you are willing to take in soft steel, by making it one gauge heavier than originally ordered.

You will note, in our Mr. Moody's letter, no reference was made to order No. 3002, on which there is still due about 12,000 lbs., No. 15 gauge, 10¾ in. wide. If our understanding is not correct, kindly advise promptly, and oblige, Replying to your favor of the 10th inst., wherein you stated that the mills had over-shipped 1¼x⅛ cut 14 ft. 4½ in. about 21100 lbs. on our order No. 16570, and asked us to arrange with our customer to accept this excess: The day following you called us up by telephone and stated the mill had just advised receipt of order No. 17830, covering 10900 lbs. of this size, and they would apply sufficient of the excess to cover this item, and ship the balances of the excess on order No. 16570, which we advised would be satisfactory.

We have since received your invoice of the 4th inst. applying this entire shipment against order No. 16570, showing an over-shipment of 21167 lbs., instead of applying 10900 lbs. against the same size on No. 17830, as you advised you would do.

Please instruct your invoice department to change their application of this shipment so as to take care of the item on the later order. The over-shipment on No. 16570 will then be 10267 lbs., which our customer agrees to accept with the understanding that the tonnage shall not apply against the contract.

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your favor of the 4th inst., referring to orders, Nos. 2104 and 2105, and stating that the orders are being held until the question of analysis has been settled. We also note that the No. 6 flange steel called for on the latter order will be billed to us at an advance of $1.00 per ton over regular ¼ in. and heavier,—all of which is entirely satisfactory.

We desire to impress upon you again the fact that this material must be for drawing purposes, with which you are familiar. We would suggest that before commencing on the entire requirement, you send forward a sample of a few tons, that our customers may satisfy themselves as to the quality, etc.

I.

Dear Sir:

We are receiving at Jersey City a great many cars, destined to points in New England, the condition of which is such that it is necessary to transfer the lading, which not only entails expense, but causes serious delays at that terminal. Many of these cases are of such a character that this trouble and expense could be avoided if proper attention were paid at points where the cars are loaded.

As these cars come to us from all parts of the country, I know of no other way of reaching the matter, except to call attention to the facts, and ask that, so far as your Division is concerned, you take the matter up with inspectors and those in charge of loading the cars, and endeavor to have more thorough inspection and repairs made to the cars when they are loaded, as well as to see that the cars are so loaded that they are not too wide to pass the New England inspection. Many of the cars referred to have old defects and will not be received by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad; others are reported as having the bottom brake connections less than 2½ in. above top of rail, and will not be accepted by the New Haven road; while others, principally coal cars, are reported as having sides bulged so that they exceed the New Haven limits.

I shall be very glad if you will have the matter taken up in whatever manner you think best, and endeavor to avoid as much of this trouble as possible, as the situation at Jersey City is especially aggravating, because the extra drilling tends to congest the already overcrowded terminal.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

In a few days we will be sending you six cuspidors which you are to use in replacing any which are found missing in any cars provided with them. Such cars, of course, will be smoking cars and compartments, and there should be a cuspidor between each two seats.

These cuspidors must be cleaned on each arrival, and a little water left in them.

There are a number of P. C. C. & St. L. express, baggage, baggage and express; also baggage, mail and express cars that have the conductor's valve located in the end of the car, or so located that the lever cannot be reached when cars are loaded with express or baggage.

All such cars in above condition should have a cord connection from the valve running the entire length of the car, located and secured similarly to that in passenger coaches. Kindly arrange to do this work on all the classes of cars mentioned, either as they pass through the shops for repairs, or as they are found in the terminal yards not so equipped.

One of these copies should be posted in each of the main inspector's houses, at the principal inspection points, and also one in your roundhouse. We presume that each man whose duties are in any way connected with the packing and lubrication of journals thoroughly understands the difference between the correct and incorrect methods and the reasons. If not, they should be instructed.

Dear Sir:

It has been reported that a number of steam drain pipes were frozen by hose not draining when hung in the center support chain. Investigation showed that this is frequently caused by the hose not being applied to the steam pipe properly when put on the car, that is, so that in order to couple the hose it must be twisted considerably, which is very hard on the hose and must not be allowed, or by improper mounting, so that the lugs on either or both center band and band near nipple, to which chains are fastened, are not placed properly. Again, when the hook on car is not in the proper place so that the center of the hose when hung up is too high, the water cannot drain out of the pipes. The position for chain lugs is shown on blue print 10158-A, and care should be taken that the hose are properly mounted before being applied; also, that they be applied to the car so that it will not be necessary to twist the hose in order to couple them, and that the hook for supporting center of hose is properly located, so the water can drain out of the pipes.

Please arrange to give this matter the best attention while cars are at terminal yards, as well as when applying hose at stations, when it becomes necessary on account of defects existing.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your letter of April 22d, and especially your first question contained therein, will say that if you can get your freight to our depot so that your teams can be backed up to the door ready for unloading not later than 11:30 a. m., we can take care of your St. Paul and Minneapolis freight for our noon train. As a general proposition there is no liability of the team being delayed in getting to the doors in the forenoon, and if they can get here by 11:00 a. m. it would be still better than 11:30 a. m. All teams take their turns in our yard, but in case of teams from you with important transfer freight for St. Paul and Minneapolis in the forenoon, if the driver will advise the foreman of this fact, upon arrival, the foreman undoubtedly would open up a special door to take care of it in order to be sure it went forward on the noon train.

Dear Sir:

I would respectfully call your attention to letters attached dated the 10th and 11th insts., to which I also attach expense bills covering the shipments, in order that you may take the matter up with the parties at fault.

Now, in regard to these expense bills, I would suggest that some special arrangements be made whereby it will be possible for us to get these bills written up in time and prepared according to the instructions which are plainly printed on the back of each bill. We have been annoyed more or less for several months on account of this irregular way of getting out these bills, and I trust you will be able to arrange the matter satisfactorily to all parties interested.

I would also call your attention to the copies of expense bills attached, B/7836, from Milwaukee, and would call your special attention to the fact that Milwaukee Station is taking these bills into account, against your instructions, that he may get the benefit of the weight and revenue. Of late, we have discovered that he is taking into account all large shipments and letting all shipments go through by simply changing the heading of the waybill. My understanding was, that instructions from you were, that they should change the heading of all waybills and let the shipments come forward to Chicago, and that we would take care of the proper proportions, etc.

Is my understanding of this matter right, and is Milwaukee Station to continue to divert this billing at his own pleasure when it is a matter of tonnage and revenue to him only?

An early reply will be greatly appreciated.

Enclosed please find our expense bills B/8675 and B/9786 which were receipted for by you. I simply wish to call your attention to the manner in which they are receipted, and ask you if you consider this a proper way to stamp receipts and return. I thought that perhaps you would like to know of the condition, in order that you might take some action to correct same. Will you kindly return the same to me by first mail?

I wish also to call your especial attention to our expense bill B/6723 which I attached, both as to the manner in which it is receipted and also as to the part it is. You will note that it is the delivery ticket part of it, and not our receipt. We are getting a great many of them from you in this way lately, and it is causing any amount of trouble. Very often we are obliged to run over large numbers of these receipts and make a special check in order to locate the proper slip. I have your letter of the 16th inst., with reference to your receiving on an average of two or three merchandise cars daily from this station containing freight for Council Bluffs, B. & M. Ry. and C., R. I. & P. Ry. Your understanding of our being short space and that it has been remedied is partially right and partially wrong. We are short space but it has not been remedied. When the new car schedule goes into effect some two or three weeks hence, it will not remedy this matter for you. We will, then, as now, only have one space allotted to the Council Bluffs car, and when that car runs full it will be pulled out and another empty put in its place, and so on during the day as fast as they run full. Our track room is very limited, and with our increasing tonnage, we are very badly handicapped. It is impossible for us to do any different from what we are in loading your cars, and you will have to make the best of it as we are compelled to do.

Hoping this will be a satisfactory explanation, I remain,

Dear Sir:

I find that you are sending part of your waybills on Train No. 6 and part of them on Train No. 58. It is most important that we get all of your waybills on No. 6 so that we can get them out before the waybills arriving from other points on Train No. 58 arrive, because of the fact that there are so many bills for butter, eggs, cheese and perishable freight arriving on No. 58 that we do not get through with the butter, eggs, cheese and perishable freight waybills, consequently your freight is delayed on account of it. Heretofore, your bills have always been received on No. 6 and I can see no reason why you cannot send them on No. 6 now, and I hope that you will so arrange.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

I herewith attach for your inspection and consideration S/Pro 3847 of April 30th. These goods were delivered to you on May 2d, but held in your house and receipt not given until May 6th. I understand the reason why you refused to give us a receipt on the 2d is because it was a weight and charge ahead shipment, and you were not willing to give us a receipt until you had located the same. Now, our expense bill bears full reference reading "weight and charges on Sacto, Cal., Feb. 9th waybill W/M 69, Pro B 389, car 49870 to you Feb. 20th." Under these circumstances I cannot see any reason why you should not date this on the 2d when you received it on that day. Will you please investigate and advise, and if there is no good reason why we should not have a receipt dated May 2d, will you please change.

By returning the attached receipt promptly, you will oblige,

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

I hand you herewith three corrections, issued at this office on May 3d and May 7th, on which we also wired your station with reference to items pertaining to our prepaid account. As I have received neither answer from my message nor an acceptance of our corrections, I wish you would kindly advise me if the shipments in question passed your station without being corrected. I note that you are in the same position that I am, and I know that you will appreciate my position in this matter, as we are not allowed to correct our accounts until we receive an acceptance from the Junction agent.

Hoping that you will do everything possible to help us along in this matter, and also assuring you of our willingness to reciprocate in any manner possible when called upon, I remain,

Please note attached letter from our agent at Sioux City, in which he is tracing for name and address of shipper on consignment you delivered us March 10th, covered by your Pro 1824, New York W/B 314, of Feb. 28th. This shipment is consigned to Smith Bros., Sioux City, Ia., and consists of one case of hardware.

Kindly furnish the required information, and oblige,

Dear Sir:

Replying to your favor of the 26th ult., wish to advise that we checked over this sack of seed and later received your 4/22 waybill 4567 to cover. I notice that Mr. Smith takes exception to our taking this bill into account, but up to the present time we have received no bill from him to cover this shipment. Furthermore, next attached you will find letter from him under date of May 1st, stating that he has no record of bill covering this shipment. Under these circumstances, I reported your waybill in last month's business and it will have to stand.

Please correct your accounts accordingly.

Replying to your favor of the 26th inst., with reference to diversion of carload of furniture from the M. K. & T. The reason these papers were delayed so long was because of the fact that we had no unconsigned car destined to the territory of the M. K. & T. Ry.

Returning you herewith your letter of the 2d inst., with reference to a shipment of a bundle of rake heads, wish to advise that our records show that this shipment checked out of the car O. K. and was delivered to you on our Pro B/5647 and we hold a clear receipt for same. To make sure that the shipment was not in our freight house, I have had a most thorough search made of the house and I fail to find any record of the rake heads in question. Therefore, we must stand on our records, as it shows we delivered you this shipment in full when the original shipment was delivered to you.

Answering your letter of the 17th, in which you ask concerning shipment covered by my April 12th W/B 2869, dry goods, consigned to Jas. Bradley, St. Louis, Mo., wish to advise that this shipment was received by us at 6 p. m., April 11th, too late to forward that day. It was forwarded promptly on the 12th in car 67294. There was evidently no delay in the handling of this shipment, inasmuch as same was handed to us too late for forwarding April 11th.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your letter of the 19th inst., with shipping ticket attached, in our own behalf, wish to say that this crate of crockery is plainly marked Worthington, Minn. The wagon that brought the shipment came to us without any bills, as is the case with most of your wagons. We unloaded the freight into our warehouse, sorting out the lots according to state marks, which is the best possible thing we can do under the circumstances. This part of the shipment in question went into the "Minnesota" pile. When we received shipping tickets later in the day, the check clerk discovered that he was short the crate of crockery and reported the shortage back to Butler Bros., and your people informed him to let balance of shipment go forward the crate short, which he did. A few days later, our men on checking over the freight that we received from you without shipping tickets, discovered the Worthington, Minn., crate on the floor, but did not connect it with the Worthington, Ia., shipment. Our receiving clerk requested Butler Bros.' teamster to take it back to the house, which he declined to do. On Oct. 14th, we reported the crate to you again as per slip attached.

I cannot see how we are responsible for the delay. The crate went forward to destination on the 21st. We are making every effort to prevent errors in your shipments, and for your personal knowledge, that you may know the condition in reference to your shipments at the present time, it would be well for you to come over here and investigate this matter and see how we are fixed now in reference to shipments from Butler Bros.

Dear Sir:

I hand you herewith my due bill for $43.16, covered by my Sept. Pro/A 15100. In error, this shipment was expensed at a 12 1/2c rate, whereas the correct rate is 19 1/2c. As the consignees have made returns to the shipper, they respectfully refer us to him for adjustment. Our records show that this matter has been repeatedly referred to you for collection, but up to the present time we have received no reply. This mistake was caused by an oversight on the part of our rate clerk, and I have no doubt but that you will promptly receive check to cover the amount if explained to consignors.

Kindly advise by return mail.

Replying to your letter of the 15th inst. attached, regarding shipment for F. Mauston, 115 Jersey Ave., New York City, N. Y., wish to advise that the property in question arrived at this station on Nov. 30th. Consignees were notified of arrival several times, but did not call for the shipment, and it was ultimately sent to our "Lock-Up" at Prairie du Chien, where it is, it being the policy of this company to send all unclaimed freight to that station.

Please furnish immediate disposition.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of Oct. 29th, we again return to you our claim referred to therein, same being dated Jan. 14th, amounting to $14.20.

If you will look up the correspondence on this matter, you will find our reason for not paying this claim was that the expense bill does not cover the shipment of Nov. 22d, as per bill of lading attached.

We have referred all these papers to Mr. Dwyer, the Southern Pacific Agent at Benicia, who has in turn referred them to the Southern Pacific Agent at Sacramento, and both of these gentlemen find it impossible to state whether this freight bill covers the shipment called for by the attached bill of lading or not. However, it seems quite immaterial to us whether the expense bill and the bill of lading attached cover the same shipment or not, inasmuch as we can prove to you beyond the shadow of a doubt, by referring to our books, that we never shipped twenty-two rolls to the Sachs Shoe Co.; and, also, that the average weight of shipments to this concern, consisting of twenty rolls each, were in the neighborhood of 2,800 pounds.

We, therefore, insist upon your prompt attention to this claim and hope to receive a voucher covering the amount in the near future. We shall be pleased, at any time your representative may call, to show him the charges in our day book, of the different shipments to the Sachs Shoe Co., which will convince you of the justice of our claim.

We enclose you claim for $33.21, over-charge on freight on C. M. & St. P. car 5434, middlings, which went forward via your line Nov. 2d, billed to our order, Ashland, Ky. This car originated in Minneapolis, the freight being prepaid to Chicago, and it should have been billed East at your proportion of the rate from Minneapolis to Ashland, Ky., which was 11c per cwt.

Please have this claim adjusted as soon as possible.

Dear Sir:

Returning you herewith your letter of even date, with expense bills attached for several potato cars, which were loaded out of this station, I notice that a few of the cars were billed back with charges for the stoves and linings. Inasmuch as the cars have gone forward and are now out of our possession, will you not take it up with the C. & G. T. Ry., who seem to be the only ones assessing charges for the return of stoves and linings, and ask them to cancel the amount they have charged against us? Had you sent us these expense bills at the time the empties came down, we could have billed charges out and then have avoided any trouble we might now have in collecting charges.

Dear Sir:

I am advised by Mr. J. H. Crawford, General Manager of the Shippers' Refrigerator Car Co., that he has arranged to put on a car to leave Chicago via our line, at stated intervals, to handle dairy freight in less than carload lots. He has arranged with Mr. Newton, in the event that the perishable freight to go into this car does not reach the prescribed minimum, to fill the car out with merchandise. You are familiar with the present arrangement, whereby, in consideration of the fact that your merchandise tonnage exceeds that of our other lines, in the interest of making our merchandise business as profitable as possible, we are giving your line all the unconsigned business which reaches us, consequently under this arrangement, Mr. Crawford expects to run this refrigerator car in connection with your line. I understand that you have given this information practically on your merchandise circular which you have distributed among shippers and western connections.

It might be as well for you to make use of this letter to increase the business which you are securing in the West, through your Traveling Agent, and in your solicitation of unconsigned eastbound merchandise from western connections. It might also be well for you to suggest, especially in the case of perishable freight, that such business as they give us to go forward in this refrigerator car, be routed in care of your line, even though the waybills which accompany the property to Chicago, show no routing east of Chicago, as this will insure against any possible delay east of Chicago, incident to forwarding in Detroit or Buffalo cars, which are rehandled at those points.

Dear Sir:

Referring to the attached papers with reference to a shipment of kindling wood from Clinton, Ia., will say that Mr. Davis called here the other day and seemed to think that he was being put to some inconvenience for no real good reason, and thought there might be some prejudice which put him to such a disadvantage. He mentioned not only the delay in accomplishing the placing of cars on team track for unloading, but states that his teamster always goes to the station with the original bill of lading, showing prepayment, but notwithstanding this, it is the rule to insist on an order to the team track foreman before delivery can be accomplished, delaying his teams at times for an hour or two. As the charges are prepaid and such fact is plainly shown on the bill of lading, are there not some instructions that can be issued to cover prompt delivery without chance of loss to the company?

Will you kindly advise as to the conditions or methods which you may be able to adopt to remove cause of complaint?

Yours of 26th inst., on subject of stop-over at Erie or Cleveland, on return portion of tickets to Boston and return, sold account of Steam-fitters' Convention. The tickets returning are for continuous passage, and not the issue of this company; consequently, there is no way whereby I could comply with your request, as we have no control whatever over the issuing line from Boston.

The only way for you to get an expression in this matter, which if considered favorably might lead to securing this special stop-over privilege, would be for you to write direct to the office of the company who issued the tickets in question, and get from them a permit such as you desire. In this connection would state that it will be a great saving of time for you to enclose tickets with your letter, in order that they may make such notations thereon as they may decide to grant.

I have delayed answer to your letter of the 20th inst., in regard to delivery of the six Cafe-Observation Cars, until I could personally canvass the situation with our people.

There has been no improvement in the general situation, rather to the contrary, since my previous letter on the subject, which is chiefly due to our inability to get materials.

We are pushing the work on your cars all that is in our power to do, but cannot, however, see our way clear to promising their completion before the 24th proximo. Our Superintendent assures me that this date can be kept, but does not see how it is possible to complete the cars a day earlier.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of the 10th inst., with regard to the delivery of the four Dining Cars, is received and carefully noted. I, too, regret that the necessity should arise for any delay in the delivery of these cars, but the delay is due to causes entirely beyond our control, the general nature of which is outlined in my letter of the 1st inst. to Mr. Smith.

The relation of the Transvaal cars, to which allusion is made, may be explained that owing to the fact that the cars would be of little service this season to the Transvaal Road, unless they could be shipped by the first of July, we were only able to turn them out within the required time by drawing upon all our resources and at the expense, to a greater or less extent, of all the other work we had in hand, including our own work.

In addition to the trouble we are experiencing, as given in my letter to Mr. Smith, we have been greatly hampered on account of our inability to get the materials as fast as required, and from the experience of Railroads in general along this line, I am sure you will appreciate this statement.

You may rest assured, however, that no effort is being spared to complete and deliver these cars at the earliest possible date.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

While it is true that the air brakes and fixtures for these cars are being furnished by the Railroad Company, it should be remembered that we agreed to take the brakes from them at $180, and therefore it rests entirely with us, and not with the Railroad Company, to settle with the Brake Company or with the Railroad Co. over which the brakes were shipped concerning the damage to the two cylinders in question. If, as stated in Mr. Deming's letter of the 16th, he should be prepared to show that the breakage took place before the cars reached us, our claim would be on the Railroad Co. transporting the materials. There is nothing in this correspondence, however, to indicate that any such claim has been made. On the contrary, it would appear that this important feature of the matter has been entirely over-looked by our people, and as the car was received in December last, it is too late now for us to successfully make any such claim. Nothing remains for us to do but to place an order with the Brake Company for two cylinders to replace the broken ones, the bill for which we will, of course, have to pay. The amount involved is not large, but the case develops a careless method of doing business on the part of our people concerned, which should be promptly taken up, and such instructions given as will insure the proper treatment of such cases in the future

Dear Sir:

In reply to yours of the 22d, inquiring concerning automobiles which have been slightly used, we beg to offer for your consideration a Milwaukee Steamer, which is a very fine machine. The following will give you a good idea of its general appearance and construction:

Regulation 4 ft. 8 in. tread, 28 inch wheels, 3 inch tires; elliptical springs, front and rear; leather upholstered; heavy rubber mat on foot board; 5 h. p. engine, consisting of two cylinders 2½ inch by 3½ inch stroke; glass mirror, water gauge, reflector, always in sight from seat; steam gauge; water pump fastened to cross head of engine by which engine can be filled while running; auxiliary hand water pump; automatic lubricator; gasoline tank holds 9 gallons of gasoline; water tank holds 31 gallons of water; the steam exhaust passes through water tank, thereby raising the temperature to nearly boiling point before being pumped into the boiler, thus saving much fuel; automatic fire regulator, by which the fire is reduced or cut down, as the steam pressure increases or decreases, making it positively automatic and self-regulating. By means of a Kelly generator, with which this machine is equipped, the fire can be entirely turned out with the exception of a small pilot light, which keeps the generator hot. This rig is a good steamer and will hold up well at 150 lbs. while running. Cost of fuel about ¾ to 1 cent per mile, depending on the condition of the roads. Gear painted dark red, body black, with red panels; center steer; chain drive. The nickeled parts on this machine are as bright as new, showing that it has had excellent care. No broken parts.

The original price of this steam carriage was $750. It was traded in to us for a much larger machine, and it is certainly a bargain at the price which we are asking—$350.

We thank you for this inquiry, and trust that we shall be able to make a deal with you on this machine.

Hoping to hear from you again soon, we are,

Gentlemen:

Your letter of the 8th, making inquiry concerning automobiles handled by us, is received and noted. Replying will say that we are pleased to send you herewith complete set of circulars descriptive of our carriage No. 501, which is one of the best machines made that can be sold at a reasonable price.

Trusting that we shall have the pleasure of fitting you out with one of these machines at an early date, we are,

Dear Sir:

Replying to yours of recent date, will say that the fact that you are so far from Chicago, necessitating quite an expense in transportation in order to get your machine to Chicago, and from the further fact that second-hand electrics are being sold in Chicago at sacrifice prices, we think it would be much better for you to try to dispose of your carriage in your own town, rather than send it to Chicago. At the present time we are buying only steam and gasoline machines and are not putting any of our money into second-hand electrics. We have, however, a few electrics which have been left for sale on a commission basis. We have made a memorandum description of your machine, and in case we get an inquiry from anyone in your vicinity, we will refer them to you, and might possibly make a sale in that way, in which case we would, of course, expect you to allow us a commission.

Thanking you for the opportunity of corresponding with you on this matter and trusting that we shall be successful in securing a buyer for your machine, at an early date, we remain,

Dear Sir:

Yours of the 9th to hand. Replying will say we have a Trimoto made by the Western Wheel Works that we think will suit your purpose. The following description will give you a good idea of this machine:

3 h. p. DeDion air cooled motor; 28 inch wheels; 2½ inch, 6 lug, Hartford automobile tires; wheels, regulation width, 4 ft. 8 inch tread; engine, fly wheel and muffler hung on front wheel; gasoline tank holds two gallons, which is sufficient for a 60 mile run; lubricator with sight feed; oil reservoir holds sufficient lubricating oil for 500 miles; speed can be changed from 3 to 15 miles an hour by advancing or retarding spark control; center steer; fine wide, plush, upholstered seat, 36 inches wide, padded back and arm rests; footboard covered with heavy rubber; foot brake acts on two rear wheels; elliptical springs under seat and coil springs in front; ignition by jump spark; fine Vesta Accumulator coil; 46 inch mud guards over front and rear wheels. This rig weighs about 500 lbs. In its construction it is on the light runabout order, with two wheels in the rear and one in front. We have no illustration of same, but a fair idea of it can be obtained by comparing the above measurements and weights with an ordinary carriage. It was made by the Western Wheel Works to sell for $450 and is a rare bargain at the price at which we are now offering it. It is as good as new and has been run less than 300 miles.

The purchaser of this machine should have no difficulty in readily disposing of it at a price much in advance of the price we are asking, and in case he should desire to buy a larger machine later, we will agree to take it back at any time within 3 months at $135 (which is only 10% less than price we are asking) in exchange for any of our higher priced new automobiles. Price $150.

Trusting that we shall have the pleasure of hearing from you again soon, we remain,

Yours truly,

Gentlemen:

We have just purchased two car loads of the celebrated Geneva steam carriages, partial description of which is given in the circular enclosed herewith. The illustrations, however, do not do the carriage justice, as the carriage has been improved greatly since these illustrations were made. The front of the body, as shown in the illustration, holds the fuel tank, and the top of the box now has a handsome nickel plated railing on the sides and front, has a fine padded seat, and makes a very comfortable seat for one large person or two small sized persons. This machine can be gotten out, under its own steam, on the road within 6 minutes from the time fire is first started, which is much better than can be done with any other steam rig. A glance at the running gear will show that it is constructed on perfectly scientific principles, insuring an easy running carriage with little or no vibration. It is equipped with all the latest automatic devices, and carries fuel for 100 miles. With steam once up this carriage can be left outside for hours. It is positively self-regulating, for instance, when steam reaches 200 lbs., the fire is automatically lighted, etc., etc. Cost of running is from ¾ of a cent to 1 cent a mile. Tires are of the very best quality 2½ inch single tube. Regular price of this carriage from the manufacturers is $700. We have bought two car loads of them, and in order to make as many sales as possible before the spring rush begins, we will name a special spot cash price of $525 each while the present stock lasts.

We feel certain that anyone who is figuring on getting a machine this spring could not do better than to take advantage of this special offer. We know it cannot be duplicated by any other house.

Trusting that we shall have the pleasure of hearing from you soon and favorably, we remain,

Dear Sir:

Replying to yours of recent date, we are pleased to enclose you herewith circulars and information regarding the Murray gasoline runabout, also the Geneva Steam Carriage, both of which are well known, serviceable automobiles. If it is possible for you to visit our store, we will be glad to give a demonstration of these machines. A personal interview and a personal inspection will give you a much better idea as to the merits and sterling qualities of these rigs, than any printed descriptions will convey.

In case you should desire to buy a machine which has been slightly used, we are certain we can please you in a second-hand steam or gasoline machine. If you do not find in within circulars, anything which would interest you, we shall be glad to have you give us an idea of what you desire and we will keep same on file. We are constantly receiving second-hand rigs in exchange for new ones, and have exceptional bargains to offer from time to time.

Kindly let us hear further from you.

Gentlemen:

We are in receipt of your letter of recent date, making inquiry concerning Murray gasoline runabout, and take pleasure in saying that we are enclosing you herewith circulars descriptive of this machine.

Since these circulars have been issued, however, some very radical improvements have been made in the carriage, so that the illustrations now give only a general view and outline. The regular price of the carriage we are now offering is $650 in place of $600, as shown in the circular. Some of the changes which are not noted in the circulars are as follows:

The removable rear hood has ventilators in the sides, the spark regulator and clutches are of different construction than shown, making them much more easily handled and under much better control of the operator. The clutch is of the most improved style, the gears run in oil and are the same as will be adopted in all of the company's 1904 or next year's models. The Church Mfg. Co., while they have been only known within the last few years as manufacturers of automobiles, have been known for many years as gas engine manufacturers, and their gas engines are classed among the very finest made by any concern, for the reason that the manufacturers are in a position to produce an absolutely trustworthy vehicle. We are desirous of getting a number of these cars out for advertising and demonstrating purposes this fall, and will therefore make you a special price of $550 for an immediate order. This price is subject to withdrawal by us at any time before purchase.

Believing that it will be to your interest to consider favorably this proposition, and trusting that we shall hear from you again soon, we remain,

Yours truly,

I write you again regarding the claim of the estate of Nicola Gilardi, which at my request, and upon terms agreed between us, was confirmed by the Probate Court early in May. Settlement was for $140. Samuel S. Kindly write me to what bank you send it, and I will see that the matter is given immediate attention. On May 25th, I wrote you respecting this matter, and up to the present date have received no reply to same. Trusting to hear from you at an early date, I remain,

I will take no steps in the matter until I have heard from you providing you reply promptly.

My dear Madam:

Shortly after you left the office, Mr. Smith telephoned me that he had just finished the conference with Mr. Downey. He sold the mortgage and note, but Mr. Downey refused to surrender your note unless you turn over the horses and buggy, even after you make a new mortgage and note. I told him that I would confer with you further and let him know some time tomorrow.

I wish you could see your way clear to take up this note and mortgage and recover possession of your property, and then proceed against these various parties, not only for the amount of goods destroyed, but also for damages, to which I believe you are entitled for the taking away by distress, your property, for rent, and the inconvenience you suffered thereby. It is a claim which, in law, I do not believe, under any circumstances, could be shown to be valid. This is a claim for rent of premises which can be easily shown to be untenable. In any event, let me know what you intend to do in this matter.

Yours very respectfully,

The debtor ignores our written demand. We have not had occasion to go over to the North side since this claim was received. We will call on debtor within the next week or so and will then give you a report. We collected one account against this debtor about one month ago, and it has been our experience that while he pays little or no attention to written demands, he is generally ready to do the fair thing when the matter is put to him in a more personal way, and brought to understand that any further delay will cause extra expense, etc.

You may look for some sort of information from us during the next few days.

My dear Peter:

I had a conference on yesterday with Mr. Crosby, superintendent of the Painting Works, and he said that he was willing to allow you your wages per week, until such time as you sufficiently recovered to resume work, and then to place you in some light service for such a time as was necessary before entering upon your former duties. He also said that in lieu of this he would be willing to pay you a sum which would amount to your wages for that time, and I presume doctor bills, etc., but you have been already apprised of this proposition and it will be nothing new to you.

We went over the circumstances of the accident very carefully, and it is purely a matter now for you to decide, as to whether you care to institute proceedings or not. I wish, however, if you are able, that you would come and see me at the office, in order that we may fully discuss the matter before taking any further steps, and if you are not able to do so, kindly let me know, and I will arrange to call and see you. Kindly let me hear from you.

Yours very truly,

My dear Sir:

A constable called to see me today, and informs me that Mr. Baley is willing to pay $45 for a release of the two judgments he claims you have against him. From what information I have it seems to me that he is absolutely worthless financially speaking. He may at any time go into bankruptcy and can easily wipe out the entire indebtedness in this manner, and $45.00 is better than no dollars. However, use your own judgment in the matter, and kindly let me know, at as early a date as possible, what you intend to do in the matter.

In regard to the note of W. C. Baker for $65.00, which you left with me for collection, will say, that I called on Mr. Baker one day last week and was not successful in getting a payment on same. He promised, however, to pay off the entire amount within the next three weeks and I agreed to allow this amount of time.

Trusting this will be satisfactory, I remain,

Dear Sirs:

I am sorry to have to trouble you again, but the lack of information which I am after causes me some embarrassment. With the Probate Court, as I have explained, I am obliged to exhibit accounts, including an inventory of all property with legal descriptions, terms of existing leases, names of tenants, etc., and I ought to have done this before now, according to the strict rules of the court.

I should like to be able to get a vacation from my court duties very soon, and for that reason should like to be able to get this matter off my hands as soon as possible. I am gratified to learn of your success in advancing the rent.

Awaiting your early reply, I am,

Dear Sir:

I have yours of the 21st inst., enclosing draft for $58.35, being the share payable by your clients towards the fees of Mr. John Jackson, of Philadelphia, Pa., in the insurance case lately tried, and in the trust administration suit lately begun there. I will forward to you my check at once and get a receipt for you.

As to the $325 allowed by the decree of the Philadelphia Court for our counsel fees, the whole of that amount I deem to be credited upon the contingent fees of 9 %, payable to myself. After conference with Mr. Williams regarding the amount of the insurance money, with interest to date of decree, I calculate that the total amount, in so far as your clients and my own are concerned, is just about $4,000, making the total contingency fee $360. Therefore, the amount allowed by the decree, payable out of that fund, leaves only some $35 more payable otherwise. Therefore, when Mr. Williams forwards to me the $325, there will be due me from your clients on this account, only one third of this balance of $35. I believe this is the information you inquired for.

Yours very truly,

(123 words)

Dear Madam:

I promised to write to you formally the terms upon which I would accept a retainer to prosecute or negotiate for you your claim for damages against the Lake Street Elevated R. R. Company. I will take the matter, give it my attention and secure the best terms I can, and accept for my compensation one-third of the amount recovered, either by suit or negotiation. I could not, however, assume any responsibility for any of your expenses or legal costs.

As to the probable amount of the latter, I would say, that of course it is impossible to tell with certainty, beforehand, but I would make the following estimate as covering the probable expenses:

First, it will be necessary to advance $11.50 for court fees for beginning suit. I do not know of any other expenses that will be incurred until the trial comes on. This will probably be in about eight months or a year after beginning suit. Then it will be necessary to pay witness fees for any witnesses per diem and ten cents a mile for mileage, as it is called, meaning the distance from witness' home to the court house.

It is possible that we may find it necessary to secure the services of some physician other than Dr. Harris in order to give expert testimony from some one else besides your family physician. In that case it may cost $25. or possibly a little more, but this expense we can decide upon, and incur or not as we choose, when the time comes. I mention this at this time only that you may be advised of the possible necessity of such an expense, and in order that you may take this point into consideration when deciding what you will do in the matter.

Of course, if I accept the case without your obligating yourself to pay me, except you recover damages, that is on a contingency, I shall expect you to permit me to have equal voice with yourself in determining any settlement, if any is offered, since thereby my compensation is affected as well as your own. These are the same terms which I proposed to you when you called at my office. If you approve of them, please write me to that effect, and on the payment of $11.50 I will bring suit. I think it is useless to attempt any settlement without a suit.

Gentlemen:

We have before us your letter of October 20th, announcing a favorable decision in the case of Fairbanks vs. Missouri Railway Company. We most sincerely congratulate you upon this outcome, particularly as before the stated Judge the odds were much against you.

We have carefully read and considered the views expressed by you in connection with the several features of this case, and in connection with the motion of the plaintiff for leave to amend his complaint, which you are of opinion the Court will probably grant.

It, of course, will be very difficult for us to get the evidence necessary to combat the allegations of an amended complaint, and it will cost us a considerable sum to get this information through an actuary from the books of the Company, so that we would still be inclined to favor a settlement. Whether this should be made on a basis of $15,000 is another question. We are not sufficiently familiar with the practice of your State to finally pass upon questions that arise under it. We understand that this was an action at law, practically in the nature of assumpsit, or covenant, with an attachment against the property of the defendant in aid thereof, and that to secure a release of such attachment the Surety Company gave a forthcoming bond. In order to enable the plaintiff to recover on an amended complaint filed with the Court's leave, he must state a different or new cause of action, and in our opinion a proceeding upon such an amended complain would release the surety on the forthcoming bond. At least under our practice that would unquestionably be the result. Have you considered upon this question?

We, of course, do not want to settle this case in any sum if the record after the amendment is in such shape that we can successfully plead the release of the surety. Before we finally pass upon these matters we would be glad to have your opinion thereon, or, if you prefer, consult with the local counsel of the Surety Company here.

You might as well have the plaintiff's attorney understand, as was stated to him by our Mr. Jones, that we were not induced to offer a settlement in the sum of $15,000 because we feared the result of the litigation, but rather because we were desirous of settling the conflicting interests involved in the various phases of this receivership as soon as possible, and were anxious to have an accounting with the Surety Company and obtain possession of any excess of colatteral as soon as possible.

Possibly some of these questions that we have raised cannot be answered any more by you than by us until after we have the amended complaint. The amended complaint in any event, it seems to us, must take a new and a different cause of action than the one which has just been determined in our favor, and if this is the case it would seem to us that the surety, not having given a bond in such new or different cause of action, must be held to be released, as its liability will not be extended or construed beyond the terms of the undertaking in the form and in the action in which it was given. It is, of course, not wise to discuss this with plaintiff's attorney, as he might otherwise elect to stand by the judgment of the court below and seek to reverse that on appeal.

Please let us have your views on these questions.

Yours truly,

This agreement made this 4th day of March, A. D. 1903, by and between Samuel Adams, of Chicago, party of the first part, and James Monroe of Kalamazoo, party of the second part, witnesseth:

Now, therefore, in consideration of two hundred ($200.00) dollars paid by the party of the second part to the party of the first part, and of the mutual stipulations hereinafter set forth, both parties hereby agree to form a partnership for the purpose of propagating and selling the aforesaid system under the following stipulations:

Second, For that it appears on the face of the Bill, that the liability, if any, of this Defendant, Joseph Cramer, is that of an assignor or indorser, only, of the principal promissory note and two interest notes, described in the Complainants' Bill; that said principal note and interest notes, by the terms and provisions thereof, became due and were payable on the 3d day of January, A. D. 1903; that the Complainants failed to exercise due diligence in the collection of the aforesaid principal note and interest notes, in that they, notwithstanding the fact that the first day of the January Term of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, was on the 16th day of January, A. D. 1903, wholly failed to institute suit against the makers of the aforesaid principal promissory note and interest notes until the 11th day of February, A. Wherefore and for divers other good causes of demurrer appearing in the said Bill, this Defendant does demur thereto, and prays the judgment of this honorable Court, whether he shall be compelled to make any further or other answer to the said Bill; and humbly prays to be hence dismissed, with his reasonable costs and charges, in this behalf, most wrongly sustained.

German Steamship Company, a Corporation, etc.

John Blaine, by Lorenzo E. Dow, his attorney, complains of the German Steamship Company, a corporation, etc., of a plea of trespass on the case:

FOR THAT WHEREAS, The said defendant before and at the time of committing the grievances hereinafter mentioned was a common carrier of passengers and their baggage for hire by vessel, namely a certain vessel called the "Kaiser," then at Southampton, in the country of England and bound from thence to the city of Hoboken, in the State of New Jersey, and in the United States of America, and the plaintiff, on, to-wit, the twenty-eighth day of September, A. D. 1892, at Southampton, aforesaid, at the request of the said defendant, delivered to the said defendant certain goods and chattels of the plaintiff, to-wit, one (1) red alligator skin hand-bag and its contents then in good order, and well conditioned, of the value of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), to be taken care of and safely carried by said defendant by vessel from Southampton, aforesaid, to the city of Hoboken aforesaid, and at the last mentioned place to be safely delivered in like good order and well conditioned to the plaintiff for certain reward to the defendant in that behalf.

Yet, the said defendant did not safely and securely carry the said baggage of the plaintiff from Southampton aforesaid to Hoboken aforesaid, and at the last mentioned place safely and securely deliver the same to the plaintiff, but, on the contrary thereof by the negligence of the defendant, and its servants in that behalf, the said goods and chattels of the plaintiff, to-wit, the said red alligator skin hand-bag and its contents to the value of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) were wholly lost to the plaintiff, to the damage of the plaintiff of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000).

AND FOR THAT WHEREAS, Also on the day aforesaid, at Southampton aforesaid, the plaintiff then and there delivered to the defendant, at its request, divers other goods and chattels, to-wit, one (1) red alligator skin hand-bag and its contents, then in good order and well conditioned of the value of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) to be taken care of and safely carried by the defendant by vessel from Southampton aforesaid to Hoboken aforesaid, and at the last mentioned place to be by it delivered to the plaintiff for certain reward in that behalf, it thereupon became and was the duty of said defendant to take proper care of the last mentioned goods and chattels and safely carry the same from Southampton aforesaid, to Hoboken aforesaid, and at the last mentioned place to deliver the same to the plaintiff in a reasonable time then next following, and although the defendant then received the last mentioned goods and chattels at the place first aforesaid for the purpose aforesaid, and although a reasonable time for the carriage and delivery thereof aforesaid has long since elapsed, yet the defendant not regarding its duty in that behalf did not nor would within such reasonable time or afterwards, although often requested, safely carry the last mentioned goods and chattels from Southampton aforesaid, to Hoboken aforesaid, or at the last mentioned place safely deliver the same to the plaintiff, but has wholly neglected to do so, and through the negligence of the defendant, the last mentioned goods and chattels, to-wit, the said red alligator skin hand-bag and its contents have been and are wholly lost to the plaintiff, whereby the plaintiff has suffered great inconvenience and annoyance from being deprived of the use of said hand-bag and its contents.

WHEREFORE, The plaintiff says that he is injured and has sustained damage to the amount of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000), and therefore he brings his suit.

No. 7. BILL TO FORECLOSE A MORTGAGE.

STATE OF ILLINOIS, } ss.
COUNTY OF COOK, }

In the Circuit Court of Cook County.
To the February Term, A. D. 1903.

To the Honorable Judges of said Court in Chancery Sitting:

Complainant, Charles Morrison, personally and as Trustee, a resident of the County of Cook and State of Illinois, respectfully shows to the Court that heretofore on or about the 13th day of June, 1901, the defendant, Henry C. King, was indebted in the sum of

6 semi-annually pendency released solicitors

Twelve Hundred Fifty ($1,250.00) Dollars, evidenced by his two principal promissory notes bearing date the 13th day of June, 1901, each in the sum of $625.00, and each payable three years after the date thereof, to his own order and by him endorsed in blank in gold coin of the United States of America of the present standard of weight and fineness, at the office of Charles Morrison in said City of Chicago or at such place in the United States of America as the legal holder thereof might from time to time in writing a point, with interest on each of said principal notes at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually until maturity, and with interest thereafter until paid at the highest rate which it was then in such case lawful to contract for and said interest until maturity being evidenced by twelve interest notes or coupons of even date with said principal notes, said interest coupons being each for the sum of $18.75, payable in gold coin as aforesaid, with interest after maturity until paid at the highest rate which it was then in such case lawful to contract for.

Complainant states that he is now the legal holder and owner of each of said principal notes and of all of said twelve interest coupons. Complainant further states that on said 13th day of June, 1902, the said Henry C. King, being the owner in fee simple of the land hereinafter described, executed and delivered to Charles Morrison, as Trustee, a deed of trust in words and figures following, to-wit: (DEED.) Which deed of trust was duly acknowledged by the said Henry C. King, a bachelor, on said 13th day of June A. D., 1901, before Frederick Sloan, a Notary Public, in and for said County, and said deed of trust was afterwards upon the said 13th day of June A. D., 1901, filed for record in the Recorder's office of said Cook County and was recorded in Book 7562 of Records, on page 834.

Complainant further states that he is the owner of each of the said notes in said trust deed described, and of all the unpaid interest thereon; that the said Henry C. King on November 27th, 1901, paid on account of each of said principal notes the sum of $100.00, which amount was duly endorsed upon each of said principal notes; that none of the interest upon said principal notes has been paid.

Complainant states that he has paid the sum of Twenty-one and 50/100 ($21.50) Dollars for an abstract of title to said premises, and during the pendency of this suit may be obliged to expend money for taxes and other purposes authorized by the terms of said trust deed; that all moneys so paid by complainant with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum should be included in the decree of sale in this cause.

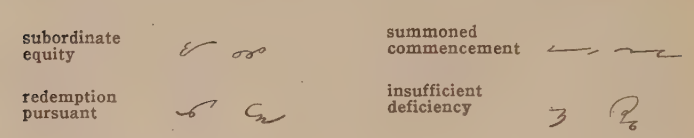
Complainant further states that in and by the terms of said trust deed it was stipulated and agreed that in case said first party should at any time desire a release of any of the said lots, the trustee therein was authorized upon payment of $200.00 principal for each lot desired to be released to execute and deliver such release deed, and complainant states that in accordance with said stipulation as to release, on November 27th, 1901, the said Henry C. King paid thereunder the sum of $200.00, $100.00 of which payment was thereupon duly endorsed upon each of said principal notes as of said November 27th, 1901, and thereupon the trustee in said trust deed duly executed and delivered to the said Henry C. King a release deed to Lot 3 in Block 4 in the Subdivision of the South half of the North half of the Southeast Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section 8, Township 40 North, Range 15 East of the third Principal Meridian in said Cook County, Illinois, which said premises last mentioned are a portion of the premises described in the trust deed hereinbefore described.

Complainant states that $125.00 is a reasonable sum to be allowed complainant for his Solicitor's fees in this cause.

Complainant states that the premises conveyed by said trust deed, which still remain unreleased from the lien thereon, are scant and meager security for the payment of the amount of the indebtedness now due complainant as aforesaid.

Complainant further states that there are persons interested in said premises whose names are unknown to complainant and who are therefore made parties defendant to this suit by the name and names of the unknown owner or owners interested in Lots 21 and 22 in Block 2 in the Subdivision of the North half of the Southeast Quarter of Section 8, Township 36 North, Range 15 East of the third Principal Meridian, also Lots 3, 4, 29, 30, 40, 41 and 42 in Block 3, and Lot 4 in Block 4 in the Subdivision of the South half of the North half of the Southeast Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section 8, Township 40 North, Range 15 East of the third Principal Meridian, all of said property being situated in the County of Cook and State of Illinois that the rights and interests of said unknown owner or owners in and to said premises if any they have,



are subordinate and subject to the lien of said trust deed.

Complainant states that Henry C. King and said unknown owner or owners claim some interest in said premises as owners of the equity of redemption therein or otherwise, and complainant states that the rights and interests of said parties in and to said premises are subordinate and subject to the lien of said trust deed.

Complainant states that there is due complainant the sum of $525.00 as principal on each of said notes, together with the interest which has accrued on the principal of said notes from the 13th day of June, 1901, with interest upon said overdue interest coupons; that default has been made in the payment of the installments of interest due upon each of said notes which become due on the 13th day of December, 1901, and on the 13th day of June and the 13th day of December, 1902; that default has also been made in the payment of the taxes upon said premises and that pursuant to the provisions of said trust deed complainant has elected and hereby does elect to declare the entire amount secured by the said principal notes due and payable and to foreclose said trust deed.

Complainant being therefore without remedy save in a court of equity, makes defendants to this bill the said Henry C. King, and the unknown owner or owners, interested in Lots 21 and 22 in Block 2 in the Subdivision of the North half of the North half of the Southeast Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section 8, also Lots 3, 4, 29, 30, 40, 41 and 42 in Block 3 and Lot 4 in Block 4 in the Subdivision of the South half of the North half of the Southeast Quarter of the Southwest Quarter, all of said property being in Section 8, Township 40 North, Range 15 East of the third Principal Meridian, in the County of Cook and State of Illinois, and prays that they may be summoned in the manner provided by law and required to answer this bill, but not under oath, their answers under oath being hereby waived.

Complainant further prays that upon the filing of this bill the Court will appoint a Receiver for the said premises with power to collect the rents, issues and profits thereof pending this suit and until the time to redeem said premises from any sale made hereunder shall expire.

Complainant prays that upon the final hearing hereof the Court upon an accounting will ascertain and decree how much is due complainant on the said principal notes and under the terms of said trust deed, and in default of the payment of said amount will order a sale of the said premises in satisfaction thereof in accordance with the rules and practice of this Court.

Complainant further prays that if the premises so sold shall not be redeemed in the time and manner provided by law, then the defendants and all parties claiming by, through or under them, since the commencement of this suit, shall stand forever barred and foreclosed of and from any right, title or interest in and to the said premises, or any part thereof, and thereupon the purchaser at said sale, his heirs or assigns shall receive a Master's Deed for said premises and may be let into possession thereof.

Complainant further pray that if the proceeds of said sale shall be insufficient to satisfy the amount due complainant, then complainant may have a decree for any deficiency against the said Henry C. King and any other person or persons who may be personally liable therefor.

Complainant prays for such other further and different relief as the circumstances of the case may require and to your Honors shall seem meet, and complainant will ever pray, etc.

CHARLES MORRISON,
By ALEXANDER HAMILTON,
His Solicitor.

STEPHEN CARTER,
vs.
JOHN L. WILSON, HELEN C. WILSON, his wife; CHARLES BENSON, as trustee; WILLIAM BENSON, CHARLES BENSON, ANNA BENSON AND MARY G. BARKER. } Cross-Bill.

} Decree.

Now comes the complainant, by W. B. Wilson & R. J. Moore, her solicitors, and also comes the cross-complainant, Stephen Carter, by Lorenzo E. Dow, his solicitor; also comes the defendant William Benson, by Jacob W. Low, his solicitor; and this cause now coming on to be heard upon the complainants' bill, the answer thereto of the defendant Stephen Carter, and the answer thereto of the defendant William Benson, and the replication of the complainant to the said answers, and upon the cross-bill of the said Stephen Carter, the answer thereto of the cross-defendant Mary G. Barker, the answer thereto of the cross-defendant William Benson, and the replication of the cross-complainant to said answers, and upon the Report of Thomas Taylor, Jr., one of the Masters in Chancery of this Court, to whom said cause was referred, and upon the evidence submitted by the said Master, and it appearing to the Court that the defendants, John L. Wilson, Helen C. Wilson, Charles Benson, as trustee, Charles Benson and Anna Benson, his wife, have been each duly served with summons in this cause more than ten days prior to the first day of the present term of this Court, and have been duly defaulted for want of appearance or answer, the Court now finds that it has jurisdiction of all the parties to this cause and of the subject matter thereof, and it appearing to the Court that no objections or exceptions have been filed to the said Report of Thomas Taylor, Jr., Master in Chancery of this Court; and it further appearing that said Master has proceeded in all respects according to the order of this Court, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that the said Master's Report be, and the same is hereby in all respects ratified, approved and confirmed.

And from the findings of the said Report and from the evidence submitted by the said Master, the Court now finds that the material allegations of the complainant's bill and of the cross-bill of the said Stephen Carter have been proven and are true; that on January 22d, 1900, the date of said Master's Report, there was due to the complainant Mary G. Barker from the defendant John L. Wilson the sum of four thousand five hundred fifty-one and 78/100 dollars ($4,551.78) upon the notes and under the terms of the trust deed in the complainant's bill described; that under the terms of the said trust deed there is also due to the complainant, for her solicitors' fees herein, the sum of three hundred and twenty-five dollars ($325.00).

The Court further finds that on the 22d day of January, 1900, the date of the said Master's Report, there was due to the cross-complainant Stephen Carter, from the defendant John L. Wilson, the sum of two thousand seven hundred and fifty-six and 11/100 dollars ($2,756.11) upon the notes and under the terms of the trust deed described in the cross-bill of the said Stephen Carter.

The Court further finds that the trust deed from John L. Wilson and Helen C. Wilson, his wife, to Charles Benson, as trustee, bearing date the 22d day of May, 1895, and filed for record in the office of the Recorder of Cook County, Illinois, on the 29th day of May, 1895, and recorded in Book 5,184 of Records, on page 634, is a valid and first lien as security for the amounts found due the complainant and cross-complainant as aforesaid upon the premises in said trust deed described, to-wit, the undivided three-fourths of Lot six (6) in Block five (5) in the South Branch Addition to Chicago, in the County of Cook and State of Illinois.

The Court further finds that the rights and interests of the defendants, John L. Wilson, Helen C. Wilson, Charles Benson, as trustee, Charles Benson, Anna Benson, his wife, and William Benson in and to the premises above described are subordinate and subject to the lien of the said trust deed.

It is therefore ordered, adjudged and decreed by the Court that unless the defendant John L. Wilson, or some one on his behalf, pay or cause to be paid to the complainant, Mary G. Barker, within three (3) days from the date of the entry of this decree, the said sum of four thousand five hundred fifty-one and 78/100 dollars ($4,551.78), with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum from January 22d, 1900; and unless the said John L. Wilson, within three (3) days from the date of the entry of this decree, shall pay or cause to be paid to the cross-complainant Stephen Carter, the said sum of two thousand seven hundred fifty-six and 11/100 dollars ($2,756.11), with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum from January 22d, 1900, and unless the said John L. Wilson within the time aforesaid shall pay the costs of this suit and the sum of three hundred and twenty-five dollars ($325.00) to the complainant's solicitors for her solicitors' fees herein, then the premises above described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amounts found due the complainants and cross-complainant as aforesaid, shall be sold at public sale to the highest and best bidder for cash, by Thomas Taylor, Jr., one of the Masters in Chancery of this Court, at the judicial sales-room of the Chicago Real Estate Board, No. 57 Dearborn street, in the City of Chicago aforesaid, and notice of the time, place and terms of said sale shall be given by the said Master by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation in the City of Chicago aforesaid, published in the English language, the first publication to be at least twenty-one (21) days prior to the day of sale; and said Master shall deliver to the purchaser at said sale the usual certificate of sale; and out of the proceeds of said sale he shall retain his fees and commissions for making said sale and shall pay the costs of this suit; he shall then pay to the complainant's solicitors, for their solicitors' fees, the sum of three hundred and twenty-five dollars ($325.00); he shall then pay to the complainant and to the cross-complainant the sums found due them, as above herein set forth, with interest on said sums respectively at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum from January 22d, 1900, to the day of sale, and the balance of the proceeds of sale, if any, said Master shall bring into court to abide the further order of Court.

If the proceeds of said sale shall not be sufficient to pay the full amounts found due the complainant and cross-complainant as aforesaid, then said Master shall divide the proceeds of said sale, after deducting his fees and the costs of said suit and said solicitors' fees, between the complainant and cross-complainant in proportion to the amounts due them at the day of said sale.

It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that if the proceeds of said sale shall be insufficient to satisfy the amounts due the complainant and cross-complainant, as aforesaid, then the complainant and cross-complainant shall each be entitled to a decree against the defendant, John L. Wilson, for the respective amounts then due to them.

It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that if the premises sold shall not be redeemed from said sale within the time and in the manner provided by law then the defendants, John L. Wilson, Helen C. Wilson, Charles Benson, as trustee, Charles Benson and Anna Benson and William Benson shall stand forever barred and foreclosed of and from any and all right, title and interest in and to the premises sold and every part thereof, and thereupon the purchaser at said sale, his heirs or assigns, shall be entitled to a Master's Deed of said premises, and upon the execution and delivery to him of such deed shall be entitled to the possession of the premises in said deed described. And it is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that the parties to this cause and all parties claiming under them since the commencement of this suit who may then be in possession of said premises, or any part thereof, upon the exhibition to them of said Master's Deed, together with a certified copy of the order of this court approving said sale, shall surrender and deliver up possession of the premises in said deed described to the grantee therein.

Judge.
